Firetruck, Car Meet

Car Driver Badly Hurt

Downtown crash of a city firetruck and a car yesterday sent a 41-year-old Esquimalt man to hospital with serious head and chest injuries.

William Mendres, 1224 Bawley, last night was in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital with a fractured skull and chest injuries. He was eased from the crushed-in right side of the front seat by Constables Brian Ferguson and John Maybin after his car was battered broadside by a screaming fire engine.

The firetruck, from the James Bay hall, was on its way to what later turned out to be only a minor fire. Its siren was howling and its red light flashing as driver Arthur Leason, 1982 Newton, raced up Quadra towards Pandora.

At the same time, Mr. Mendres was driving a sedan along Johnson.

AT SAME TIME

They apparently both reached the Johnson-Quadra intersection at the same time. Police said the crash happened near the centre of the intersection. The heavy firetruck, damaged slightly at the front end, bulldozed the sedan to the northeast corner against a lamp standard.

None of the firemen was injured.

Meanwhile, two more firetrucks, both from the main firehall on Yates Street, continued to the small fire in a house at 1511 Pandora.

A fire department request for an ambulance was answered by a city police patrol wagon standing by at the scene of the fire.

LONE OCCUPANT

Mr. Mendres was the lone occupant of the car, which was demolished.

City fire department officials last night refused to say how many firemen were riding on the truck at the time or whether any of them were thrown to the ground by the impact.

Police, still investigating the crash, are seeking eyewitnesses.

Chimp Space Bound

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young chimpanzee, a specimen of man's most intelligent tree-dwelling cousin, is scheduled to be rocketed into space briefly next week, perhaps Tuesday.

If all goes well on the 280-mile, 16-minute flight into the Atlantic from Cape Canaveral, Fla., one of the seven human U.S. astronauts will have a ticket for the next such trip.

The United States' hopes of hurling a man into an earth orbit sometime this year are pinned on success of these two shots.

A chimp was selected for the pioneer flight because his body and mind most nearly resemble man's. In fact, a chimp's mental processes are more man-like than ape-like.

$12,600,000 In the Red

OTTAWA (UPI)—Finance Minister Fleming last night reported a $12,600,000 deficit in the federal government's financial operations for the first nine months of the current fiscal year.

Surplus Food For Jobless?

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is considering plans to distribute surplus Canadian foodstuffs to welfare agencies to assist the unemployed, it was learned Friday night.

A federal government source said a detailed plan has not yet been evolved, but several departments have been put to work studying the problem.

Distribution of surplus foodstuffs to help unemployed heads of families and individuals has been urged on Ottawa by a number of labor unions and welfare organizations.

They have won a sympathetic hearing from Prime Minister Diefenbaker, it was reported.

At present the principal surpluses in Canada are butter and wheat.

Kennedy Muzzles Top U.S. 'Brass'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The week-old Kennedy administration, in keeping with its policy of "quiet diplomacy," has clamped a tight lid on foreign policy speeches or other "inadvisable" statements by officials of its military services and other departments.

The policy is reminiscent of the early days of the Eisenhower administration when former defence secretary Charles E. Wilson ordered a halt to missile rattling and statements on inter-service rivalry.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke (chief of naval operations) was the first affected by the Kennedy policy. Burke had prepared a "tough" speech on U.S. relations with Russia for delivery last night at a national business publications dinner here.

But the White House, reportedly "disgruntled" by what Burke planned to say, ordered it rewritten. It emerged as a rather innocuous explication of the need for sea power in facing "the perils of the future."

If he had failed to get his tiger they would have felt that they had failed as hosts.

Pirates' Ship Shifts Course

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The U.S. Navy said Friday night the rebel Portuguese passenger ship Santa Maria has "drastically changed" course and is heading in a southeasterly direction. It appeared to be veering away from a direct course that would take it to Africa.

Announcement of the change followed a U.S. promise of safe conduct for the rebel skipper to discharge his 588 captive passengers at port.

The navy told the rebel, Capt. Henrique Galvao, it would take no action against the ship if he would carry out his announced willingness to release the passengers he holds as virtual hostages.

The ship's last reported position was almost directly on the equator.

At the same time the navy ordered Rear Admiral Allen Smith, commander of the Caribbean sea frontier, to Belem, Brazil.

U.S. BASE

Belem was chosen as U.S. base if the Santa Maria decides to confer with navy officials.

Galvao said he was ready to meet U.S. authorities aboard the ship or at a landing port.

Galvao also said he would accept a U.S. navy escort to protect him from Portuguese warships steaming to head him off from his earlier announced destination of Angola in Portuguese West Africa.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT

There was no announcement by the U.S. of such an offer, however.

Portugal's speedy new frigate, the Pero Escobar, armed with three-inch guns, is among Portuguese ships speeding after the Santa Maria.

The rebels have threatened to scuttle the ship if attacked.

There is nothing unsporting in shooting tigers from a tree-platform according to one of Duncan's "old India hands" and former "white hunter" to King George V.

Col. M. E. Dopping-Hepenstal said criticism of Prince Philip for shooting a tiger from a 25-foot high platform at Rajasthan, India, earlier this week is unfounded.

"It is absurd for these people to complain about the royal hunt," the veteran soldier said.

EXTERMINATE THEM

"Tigers are a menace and should be exterminated."

He said shooting tigers from a tree-platform is actually one of the more difficult ways of killing them because the animals only appear for the bait around dusk when light conditions make for tough shooting.

"It is very difficult shooting," said the colonel.

He said reading of Prince Philip's tiger hunt took him back to 1911 when he accompanied King George V on safari.

He'd Be Delighted Says Stevenson

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Adlai Stevenson expressed belief Friday that President Kennedy would be delighted to meet with Premier Khrushchev if the Soviet leader shows up at the UN General Assembly in March.

Stevenson, new U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made the statement at a press conference. He also expressed a desire for improved relations with Communist China.

There has been speculation that Khrushchev may attend the resumed session of the General Assembly opening March 7. Stevenson was asked whether Kennedy would welcome informal contacts with Khrushchev if the Soviet premier does come.

CAN'T SPEAK

"I cannot speak for the president on this matter because I have not discussed it with him, but my guess is that he would be happy to meet Mr. Khrushchev here," Stevenson replied.

"I would hope very much that we could achieve peaceful relations and restore harmony and security to the world, and that, of course, would include China."

WASHINGTON SURPRISED

Washington officials appeared to be surprised by the Stevenson statement even though there was no adverse comment on it.

Diplomatic observers in Washington said the statement could be construed in Moscow as an informal way of getting word to Khrushchev that if he wanted to come to New York he would be asked to Washington.

School Janitor Faces Drug Peddling Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 38-year-old janitor employed by the Vancouver school board was charged Friday with trafficking in narcotics.

John McKinley is also charged with selling narcotics.

Charged jointly with McKinley is his wife, Priscilla, 30. She is charged with possession of drugs for the purpose of trafficking and faces a further charge of possession of drugs.

McKinley was arrested Thursday after he allegedly sold five capsules of heroin to an RCMP officer posing as an addict.

$100,000 Vanishes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The FBI said Friday a package containing $100,000 was stolen from an Australian Qantas Empire Airways safe at San Francisco International airport.

Agent Bruce Banks said the money was taken by someone who apparently knew the combination.

Fuss Over Royal Hunt Absurd—'India Hand'

DUNCAN—There is nothing unsporting in shooting tigers from a tree-platform according to one of Duncan's "old India hands" and former "white hunter" to King George V.

Col. M. E. Dopping-Hepenstal said criticism of Prince Philip for shooting a tiger from a 25-foot high platform at Rajasthan, India, earlier this week is unfounded.

"It is absurd for these people to complain about the royal hunt," the veteran soldier said.

large, and while the king was an excellent shot and knocked down 19 tigers of the total bag of 39, some of the others were not.

One of the royal entourage became so enraged and humiliated when he missed a tiger time after time that he finally threw down his expensive rifle in disgust.

Another nimrod clobbered one of the party's work elephants by mistake, but the animal survived in spite of a 24-inch-deep hole in the head.

ACT AS ARBITER

At one point on the hunt Col. Dopping-Hepenstal had to act as arbiter between two members of the party who couldn't agree on the ownership of a rhinoceros trophy.

One of the hunters who claimed it was the man who the beast had chased into camp, the other was the man who gunned it down at the crucial moment.

"I gave it to the man who fired the shot," said the Colonel.

Tiger Tempest Upsets India

(Special To The Colonist)

NEW DELHI—Reports that a section of the British press has severely criticized the Queen and Prince Philip for taking part in a tiger shoot has surprised, pained and even angered many Indians in New Delhi.

While there has been no comment at all in the daily press on the attitude of certain British papers and personalities the Indian civil servants, journalists, soldiers, drivers and bearers with whom one reporter spoke Friday are unanimous in describing it as a ridiculous campaign which has embarrassed both India and its royal guests.

The news of the tiger shoot was featured on the front page of every New Delhi newspaper there seems to be no one who was not pleased that India was able to offer the duke a successful day's sport.

UN Tries To Fill Gap

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—The UN Congo military command was confronted Friday with the prospect of a sizable dent in its "barely adequate" 20,000-troop force in the next several days.

UN sources said approaches have been made to many nations, including India, Mexico, Japan, Iran and Sweden, for troops to plug the gap resulting from withdrawals.

RESULTS UNKNOWN

No information on results was available.

Nations withdrawing troops support Patrice Lumumba as the "legal" premier of the Congo. Lumumba now is imprisoned in Katanga and UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld has called for his release.

GUINEA GOING

Guinea's 749 troops have started withdrawing. The United Arab Republic has asked repatriation of its 545-man contingent by Feb. 1. Morocco wants its 3,240-man force out by Tuesday and Indonesia wants its 1,150 troops sent home soon.

Congo Storm Clouds Start to Gather

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—UN troops and civilian employees in the Congo have been warned to stay in the future in places where they can easily be reached by military police or troops in an emergency.

The warning was provided by a general uneasiness among UN personnel, a well-informed source said.

NO RISKS

"Storm clouds are gathering," the source said. "We can't afford to take any risks."

The source listed these "storm signs."

• Formation of a 300-man "professional" foreign legion, mainly Belgians and West

• In Elisabethville, Katanga's capital, a UN spokesman said there were unconfirmed reports of increased troop movements in northern Katanga by the Congolese army, part of which is loyal to Mobutu and part to Lumumba supporters.

USE FORCE

And in Brussels, the Belgian foreign ministry said it was "the duty" of the UN to "use force if necessary" to obtain the release of eight Belgian troops arrested in Kivu last week.

Party Heads Differ

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF leader Hazen Argue, a candidate for the leadership of the New Party, disagreed sharply Friday with two of its leading architects over whether Saskatchewan's Premier Douglas will run for the leadership.

"I have had many and frequent talks with the premier on this question," Mr. Argue said.

"... I feel even now that the premier is not available."

The same press conference was told by Stanley Knowles, chairman of the New Party's national committee, and by David Lewis of Toronto, national CCF president, that Douglas will agree to run and will win.

Congo Withdrawals Could Mean War-Dag

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld yesterday warned that the big powers might be drawn into "open and active involvement" in the Congo if the smaller nations pull their troops out of the UN command.

Gagliardi 'Pawn' In Controversy Over Court Case

Highway's Minister Gagliardi, whose eligibility to sit in the B.C. Legislature has been challenged because of a conviction on a charge of contempt of court, said Friday night he is a pawn in a controversy over which he has no control.

He said in an interview he never passed any opinion personally on a matter for which he subsequently was convicted of contempt of court.

COURT ORDER

He was fined $1,000 in a contempt action last fall, started after he allegedly disobeyed a court order by allowing his department to pay off a highway contract to Union Contractors Ltd. The order restrained payment until a creditor was satisfied.

"Every opinion that was passed was passed by the legal department of the government," Mr. Gagliardi said. "Therefore we acted in accordance with all of the legal necessities that were imposed upon us."

NO CONTROL

"I'm a pawn. I am the centre of a controversy over which I have no control and must allow myself to be subjected to. But there will be a day when right is right and it will be declared and stated in most emphatic terms."

CCF EFFORT

Mr. Gagliardi was also asked for his opinion on an attempt by Opposition leader Strachan to have him unseated.

He said as a responsible elected representative and as a minister of the crown he must take his place in the House—"it is mandatory."

Laos Cried 'Wolf'

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said yesterday the Laotian government has admitted it cried "wolf" in protesting to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and the United Nations against Communist invasion.

A dispatch from Vientiane by Times correspondent Jacques Nevard says Education Minister Nhouy Abhay told a press conference attended also by Premier Bou Oum the protests were designed to assure the Laotian people the pro-Western regime had friends abroad.

The government regularly reported the presence of a number of battalions and even regiments of North Vietnamese troops within Laos. Their presence never was confirmed by Western observers.

Hollow Pronouncement

AS usual, the opening speech in the British Columbia Legislature on Thursday is more noteworthy for what is omitted than what it contains. This time it is a singularly rapid disclosure of what the government proposes to do in the first session of the new legislature, but that should not be taken as a measure of the session's importance. One can be very sure that before promulgation various items of legislation will be introduced which will have a much wider impact on the province than the innocuous proposals sketchily outlined in the "speech."

This has been the practice of provincial legislatures for a long time, and one wonders what useful purpose it achieves.

The government must know long before the House convenes whether or not it intends to offer legislation on such matters as labor and social welfare, to mention only two of the issues much in the public mind these days. Would any harm be done by disclosing to the public through the speech given to the lieutenant-governor to read the fact that the government does intend to amend the relevant statutes?

At this early stage it is not necessary or desirable to reveal proposals in detail—that should properly come with submissions of the bills—but the public would be reassured by the knowledge that the government does intend to act on matters where action of some kind appears to be imperative.

This has become a sort of game that governments play; and in 1961 the B.C. government seems to have gone to more than usual lengths to keep its intentions hidden and tease the people with ambiguities and vague suggestions which could mean much, little or nothing at all. It is a pointless game, tending to detract from the serious purpose for which the House is assembled.

There are times when it would be harmful for a government prematurely to expose its intentions—as, for example, in matters of taxation. But it is helpful to those who are to be affected by new laws or changes in existing laws to know that their interests are going to be taken up by the legislature.

There are numerous instances on record in which legislation sprung on the House without sufficient warning to enable interested professions, traders or organizations to make submissions has subsequently proved unworkable and had to be changed a year later.

A government which always professes that it keeps the province informed in all things should set a better example by being a little more specific in the opening speech.

As it is, the only really important matter stated in definite terms is the decision to implement that portion of the monumental Chant report on education dealing with the establishment of an institute of advanced technology to complement the university. But the report contained a vast array of other vital recommendations.

Apart from that it would be difficult to detect anything concrete in what is supposed to be program for the House. It is a hollow pronouncement.

Hope for the Future

OVER the past six months two major obstacles have effectively blocked all moves toward any improvement in U.S.-Soviet relations—with the unfortunate result that world tensions have been increased almost to the breaking point.

On the one side, the American government has consistently held that the imprisonment of the two surviving crew members of the U.S. RB-47 reconnaissance aircraft shot down in the Arctic constituted a blatantly hostile act committed by the Russians, thus precluding any approach on the part of the United States toward seeking ways of lessening the ever-growing friction between the two nations.

With equal determination the Russians held their grievance over the threat of the United States continuing the U-2 spy-plane flights over Soviet territory—even to the extent of naming it the major reason for the collapse of the summit talks last year.

Today both these obstacles have been suddenly removed. In an unprecedented gesture of mutual goodwill the Soviet government has freed the two fliers and President Kennedy has ordered that the U-2 flights over Russia not be resumed.

There is no doubt that the Russian action will be suspect in many quarters, but President Kennedy has apparently accepted it as an honest move on the part of Premier Khrushchev toward the breaking down of the existing barriers between the two countries, and has shown by his reciprocal action that the United States government is now willing to meet the problems half way.

To the rest of the world, whose very existence depends on the actions of these two great powers, this latest development will be welcomed with the fervent prayer that it is but the beginning of a new era of hope and trust in place of despair and suspicion.

A Hefty Profit

PUBLIC accounts tabled in the legislature for the year 1959-60, the latest such statistics available, show that the government spent over $26,000,000 on social welfare. The same tabulation of accounts indicates that the B.C. Liquor Board made a profit that year of over $27,000,000.

What is put into one of the government's many pockets cannot be pinpointed as coming to the aid of another. The liquor profits would be dispersed generally, but if need be they could be construed as underwriting the welfare programs. If they were ever specially allocated for that purpose, of course, there could be small objection.

It is interesting to note the size of the liquor profit, which is a hefty one indeed. The $27,000,000 was the net gain made from total sales of $96,000,000. That represents a profit of 28 per cent on the multiple transactions, a figure which few if any business enterprises could ever reach.

No wonder that consumers of alcoholic beverages complain they are charged too much for their purchases.

These buyers are vulnerable and, perhaps, easy pickings. The moralists manage to keep liquor consumption labelled as a human vice, and governments, even while engaged profitably in the liquor business themselves, refrain from contradiction. The public accounts indicate one thing clearly, however. If it weren't for the liquor board customers' taxes would have to go up; that $27,000,000 of revenue would have to come from somewhere.

Interpreting the News

Curbing U.S. Dollar Flow

By HAROLD MORRISON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

PRESIDENT John Kennedy likely will move shortly to propose new curbs against United States dollar expenditures abroad. Such restrictive actions might have some influence on the growth of Canadian trade and trade of other major exporters.

The mood in which he is operating as he takes hold of the new administration is one of presenting a tougher front in the battle to end the drain on American gold stockpiles.

In his first press conference he made clear he considers maintenance of the strength of the American dollar "a most serious problem." Within a few weeks he will make proposals to Congress on ways to end the continuing pressure on declining American gold reserves.

What Kennedy has in mind is still in the realm of speculation, but he had before him a report recommending, among other things, reduction of the amount of tax-free goods American tourists can bring home with them. The current maximum is $500 every six months.

Currently the United States shows a deficit in its international tourist account; more tourist dollars go out of the country than come in. Some of the American tourist dollars come into Canada and are turned into luggage, blankets, china, silver and other items brought back into American homes. A reduction in the value of tax-free entry of tourist goods in the United States could have some impact on Canadian tourist trade.

Recommended also are demands that countries with discriminatory import curbs against North American goods be urged to reduce or drop these curbs altogether. Any action along these lines could have some benefit for Canada.

It also recommends continuation of steps to discourage American military expenditures in foreign countries; pressure on West Germany and other countries to carry a bigger share of Western military costs and removal of tax incentives which might encourage private American capital investment in the industrially developed countries.

Exit the Devil

Revising the Catechism

By CASSANDRA, from London

AT the Convocation of Canterbury it has been indignantly pointed out that in the Revised Catechism "the Devil and all his works" have been omitted.

Not only has Old Nick been cut out of the official ecclesiastical scene but some of his major attractions, "the pomp and vanity" and the "lusts of the flesh," have also been deleted.

In a flash—and very properly, too—the clergy were on their feet demanding that The Great Adversary, the Prince of Darkness, should be reinstated in the east of the best melodrama of all time—Good versus Evil.

Canon Tindall of Salisbury Cathedral said: "I don't know how the Devil got left out. I personally would have liked some reference to him here, although not necessarily by himself."

And the Bishop of Coventry, alert as ever, at once saw the danger of not having a target of evil for the arrows of virtue. He said: "We have made a careful note about the absence of the Devil," and no doubt a search party will be dispatched from the cloisters forthwith.

Where would St. George be without The Dragon? What does roast duck taste like without apple sauce? Where would Hamlet be without the Prince?

No churchman worth his grain of brimstone would be without the Devil and all his works. Meophobos and Hell and Damnation are as necessary to a good practical theologian as disease is to a good surgeon.

Keep It Dark

THE more you hear of the International Air Transport Association the more autocratic that organization seems to be. The tone seems to have been accurately pitched by the director-general, Sir William Hildreth, who in objecting to a television broadcast on the safety of various fuels, dismissed the viewers (who are also customers of the IATA) as "8,000,000 sweaty nightcaps."

It now seems that the association has a system of inflicting fines on its members should they wrongly communicate with the press.

ROAC got stung recently for about $1,000 for being too talkative, while BEA were fined around £300 for a similar offence.

The IATA has 800 rules and any member who oversteps the mark can expect six of the best.

The association reached its zenith of punitive vigilance some time ago when it fined SAS, the Scandinavian airline, for claiming that its sandwiches were better than those of its competitors.

Very likely they were—knowing the smothered touch. But the IATA was insistent that the customers should not know what might be good for them.

The "sweaty nightcaps" ought to know that the customer is always wrong—and that they had better take it and like it.

Cold Comfort

ONE of the best—or maybe I mean the worst—comments made from the safety of dry land was delivered by the commander of the Otis Air Base in the United States when he was referring to the sinking of the radar tower off the New Jersey coast with the loss of 28 lives.

Evidence had previously been given by a sergeant who had served 10 months on the tower that the crews were terrified and that the structure swayed as much as 14 feet in rough weather.

Said the commander philosophically: "Danger is our business. In some instances we have to take risks in the best interests of the United States." You can tell that twice to the bereaved.

Reports from Ottawa

IT is well established in both theory and practice that royal commissions conduct their inquiries free of government pressure. This is their great strength.

But there are ways for a prime minister to get the kind of royal commission report he wants. For example, he may frame a commission's terms of reference to point to a desired conclusion. He may also select the commissioners with such canny knowledge of their temperaments as to further the likelihood that their eventual report will be essentially what he wants.

Politics being what they are, this could be the measure of any royal commission. I hope it will not prove the measure of the Royal Commission on Publications.

The fact that Canadian magazines are having difficulty competing for advertising against the Canadian Time and Reader's Digest is well known. The Liberal government recognized the fact, and put a special tax on these U.S. magazines' Canadian advertising content that the present government subsequently repealed.

It therefore stood to reason that an inquiry would support the Canadian magazines' contention that government action can be justified to protect them against the "unfair" competition of Time and the Digest.

In picking a chairman for the royal commission, Prime Minister Diefenbaker surprised many by selecting M. Gratton O'Leary, the distinguished and erudite editor of the Ottawa Journal. O'Leary never made any effort to hide his low opinion of John Diefenbaker. When Diefenbaker was elected party leader, O'Leary stalked out of the Coliseum—and Diefenbaker is not a man quick to forgive and forget.

But O'Leary is a fiery Irishman, a man of intense patriotism, a nationalist in the best sense of the word, without any strong feeling for the United States. His sympathies, professional and personal, might be expected to be for the underdog Canadian magazines in their fight with the minions of Henry R. Luce.

O'Leary accepted the appointment because he is not a man to refuse a call to public service.

Now, it is a simple fact that some time before the fall of 1963 there will be a general election. It is likely to be about 18 months hence.

It is also a simple fact that the government desires press support. One way to woo the support of the magazine press, obviously, is to encourage magazine publishers to hope the government will take action to divert advertising from Time and the Digest to Canadian magazines. Simply by appointing the O'Leary commission Diefenbaker has whetted such hopes.

It can be safely assumed that the government also wants sympathetic treatment in Time's reporting of Canadian politics. Time estimates it has 1,250,000 readers in Canada.

A royal commission report recommending government action that would reduce Time's Canadian profits or even put Time out of business in Canada would make Canadian magazines happy. If the government then sat on the recommendation, taking no action, Time might see much in the government's record that deserves sympathetic reporting.

The Packback

Killer Instinct

By GREGORY CLAER

THE primary intention and purpose of civilization was to moderate and if possible control the killer instinct in human nature. We have succeeded at this stage of civilization in fooling ourselves to the extent that when we go in a supermarket and see all the meat so tastefully packaged in cellophane, pretty and pink and white, we do not associate in our minds, for one minute, the idea that anything has been killed in order to feed us. We have persuaded ourselves that we are not killers, and we have reached the stage where, with all our hearts and minds, we can deplore war and violence, and can look askance, with growling public sentiment, at the sportsman who kills for fun.

But killing is the way of all life. The gentle rabbit kills the tree he girdles but he is no more conscious of his act than is the fox that pounces out and kills the rabbit. All life subsists by consuming other life. A vegetarian friend of mine insists that we could subsist by killing only the plants, as do the rabbits. He believes life is sacred only in animals.

"But if we became vegetarians universally," I asked him, "what would we do with all the billions of cattle, hogs, sheep, fowl?"

"Get rid of them," he said.

"How?" said I.

'Progressive' Folly

Children Betrayed

(From The Edmonton Journal)

NUMEROUS Edmonton employers have expressed themselves as appalled by the low standard of education displayed by many young persons, with 10 to 16 years of training in our schools, who apply to them for jobs. As a case in point, a recent letter from a young person has been brought to our attention. It is an application for employment, and it reads in part:

"During my years at school, I have had honors in all mathematical courses. To further my interest in figures, I took a computer course in which, I made ninety-six percent on the diploma exam."

"I have had one year of typing in school. My speed at the end of the year was approximately thirty-five words per minute."

"I have had no experience in this type of work, but I am extremely interested and very eager to learn all I can. I expect to work hard and hope for the possibility of advancement. My education extends only to the completion of Grade 10. . . I hope to continue my education by correspondence as soon as I am betted in a permanent job. I am available immediately. . . If you feel it necessary it is possible to obtain written references. . .

This is by no means an extreme example. Most employers could cite many much worse. There is every reason to believe that this letter was written by an intelligent young person, eager to learn but deprived of the opportunity because of the folly of "progressive" education with the automatic promotions, the "moulding of the whole child," the time-consuming rituals, the soft, elective courses, and all the rest of the neglect of a sound basic education.

How could a normal child pass through ten years of school without learning how to spell simple words in his own language? The answer is that the school never really attempted to teach him. He was betrayed by "progressive" education.

Today, unfortunately, many teachers are themselves the victims of "progressive" education, and are incapable of teaching fundamentals. Many years will be required to repair the damage.

End of an Era

Less Intimate, More Frank

By DUART FARQUHARSON

LONDON—With the end of the Eisenhower administration comes the end of an era in Anglo-American relations. No longer will so much of the destiny of the free world be shaped on the Downing Street-White House telephone line.

Under Prime Minister Macmillan Britain has put the health of the Anglo-American alliance above every other consideration of foreign policy. Being Number One with like has meant for Britain remaining a Great Power in a world which might more naturally allow for only two great powers, those of East and West.

The working of the post-Suez Anglo-American alliance has been an eye-opener for a Canadian to watch. Canadians, it hardly needs to be recalled, have long considered themselves in the role of interpreters, the essential link in Anglo-American understanding. Mention this role to officials here in the era of the MacIke telephone and you get a knowing smile quickly changed to a polite nod.

Few people would accuse Mr. Macmillan of being subservient to the White House. His method has been to agree on essentials, to give the Americans what they want, especially in the defence field. By building up and preserving Washington's trust he has been able to win its attention if not always its support to Britain's own diplomatic initiatives.

As one of the craftiest of politicians, the prime minister has been sometimes less than frank in his public statements about just how much he has committed Britain to an American position. Thus, when announcing the setting up of the American Polar submarine base at Holy Loch last fall, he at first implied that Britain would have more control over the American ships using the base than was actually the case.

Similarly, to reassure some Englishmen that Britain is still a truly independent great power, the prime minister insists on the maintenance of an independent nuclear deterrent which many critics consider costly, useless and dangerous as an encouragement to the spreading of nuclear arms.

On the issue of the control of nuclear arms used by NATO forces Mr. Macmillan admits in private that the present arrangement means that in the last analysis an American general can press the button with the agreement only of the American president. He accepts this arrangement but he does not talk about it publicly.

So much for Anglo-American relations in the Eisenhower-Macmillan era. Why does President Kennedy's accession bring it to an end?

Certainly there is no reason to think Mr. Kennedy less friendly to Britain than his predecessor.

The essential difference for Mr. Macmillan is that there can be none of the old personal intimacy with the younger man. Just recently has it been appreciated how close was the relationship between these two seemingly so dissimilar leaders, which grew up since they first worked together in North Africa during the Second World War.

The change is best put in the words of Mr. Macmillan himself when he commented privately on the election of Mr. Kennedy last November. The present relationship, he said, has been based on memories. The new one will be based on hopes.

Until the two men know each other much better the telephone cannot function so often or so well. Meanwhile Mr. Macmillan can be expected to do everything in his power to convince the new administration that Britain remains America's Number One ally. To fail to do so would be to change the cardinal point of British foreign policy.

Just what Mr. Kennedy has in mind for the Anglo-American alliance remains a subject of pure conjecture here. It has been noted that the Democratic administration has promised to pay more attention to Latin America and Africa. Does this mean less attention to the U.K.? Probably not.

One positive change in the partnership's relations with each other, however, is expected by those who claim to know Mr. Kennedy: more candor in the stating of public positions.

That more frankness is badly needed on both sides has been amply demonstrated in the last few weeks. The British press has gone wild over Laos, picturing the United States as a hellion, trigger-happy war-monger only stopped from armed intervention by a sage Britain. In an ironic twist the Eisenhower administration which had been labelled "lame-duck" the month before became a sitting duck for journalistic excess when it acted on Laos and Cuba.

Granted there were and remain honest differences of opinion between the two governments about Laos. Much heat, however, could have been taken out of the controversy if officials on either side had been as blunt about where they agreed as where they disagreed.

The outlook for the alliance under the leadership of the new American president, then, is for less intimacy at the top but perhaps more frankness and therefore better understanding of respective roles at the public level.

Letters to the Editor

Poor Foresight

Councillor Joseph Casey of Saanich seems to show poor foresight when he advocates throwing out town planning in our municipality.

Contrary to Councillor Casey's apparent contention some property subdividers have almost free rein and made quick profits without any regard for the future welfare of our community. It is this type of abuse that town planning is designed to stop.

As a responsible representative of the electors, Councillor Casey should re-examine his attitude towards planning, put his shoulder behind the wheel and push for what is right.

DENNIS H. BESLEY,
Secretary, Saanich Voters' Association,

Reform Parties

Someone has to bring up the rearward. The Colonist, Jan. 24, seems to be volunteering in the old-fashioned game of referring to reform parties as being socialist, all the time. Like all capitalist political organizations, including that of one Adolf Hitler, the reform parties need a leader, in German known as fuhrer. Leadership, as an institution, had its beginnings with brainwashing, which is coeval with slavery and began at the dawn of civilization and class cleavage.

"Socialist leader" makes about as much sense as "democratic dictatorship" or "black white." But King Capital controls the press.

Engineer Service

With reference to your editorial, "It Should Have Been Fenced," it will be very astonishing to the construction trade and engineers to learn that the federal government breakwater in Oak Bay proved to be a near death trap for a young girl. Recent southeast gales might have been expected to consolidate the rock mound.

Old-timers may recollect that during 20 years, 1913 to 1934, the federal public works department maintained an engineering staff at Victoria. The Ottawa Conservative Bennett-Stephens administration thought in 1933 to ameliorate the severe depression by a big reduction of government engineering personnel throughout Canada, and closed the Victoria office in favor of a centralized public works engineer staff located at New Westminster.

This death trap incident at Oak Bay suggests that there might be advantages if the Victoria office of federal public works was reactivated. Very important harbor works are centred around this southeasterly end of Vancouver Island, including naval and drydock facilities. Repairs, renewals, and general engineering maintenance might be much more efficiently administered from Victoria, especially during periods when the mainland is fogbound.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ralph Prentice, 27, pleaded guilty in police court to charges of breaking into a downtown department store.

Court was told Prentice spent four hours cutting a hole through a wall into the store from his hotel room.

Police said the man was registered under the name of Macke Holenwhol.

Canadian Scientists:

Force Only Way
To Build Shelters

DEEP RIVER, Ont. (CP) — Two atomic scientists say Canadians will not build fallout shelters unless forced to do it and the federal government should take over the job.

Dr. O. J. Runnalls, a metallurgist, and Dr. A. J. Mooradian, a fuel development engineer, spoke to a meeting called to discuss civil defence. Both work at the nearby Chalk River atomic energy plant.

Dr. Mooradian said residents of Deep River were fully aware of the peril of fallout in a nuclear attack. But even they had shown no interest in basement fallout shelters.

"If the people here won't build shelters how do you expect to persuade the other people in Canada to do it?" he asked.

Dr. C. A. Mawson, a radiation biologist, said the government has not informed Canadians of the effect of nuclear war. He estimated it would cost $700,000,000 to provide shelters for Canada's population—half of the annual defence budget.

Rusk said Kennedy wants to employ "flexible" diplomacy.

Sturdy Agrees to Wait

Gagliardi Action Halted
At Opposition's Request

VANCOUVER (CP) — A British Columbia Supreme Court action to have Highways Minister Gagliardi removed from the legislature has been withdrawn by Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy.

Mr. Sturdy said Friday he withdrew the action at the request of the opposition. He did not say who in the opposition made the request. However, Mr. Sturdy said he is free to resume the action at any time.

The lawyer had based his action, started earlier this week, on a contempt of court conviction against Mr. Gagliardi.

Mr. Sturdy's suit is on the allegation that, under the Provincial Elections Act, Mr. Gagliardi cannot sit as a member of the legislature, having been convicted of an unlawful offence.

"The opposition asked me to withdraw the suit to give them a chance to question the matter in the house," said Mr. Sturdy.

"If Mr. Gagliardi is not expelled from the legislature or does not resign, I propose to start the action again."

Civic Administration

"Rotten" in Penticton

PENTICTON (CP) — Penticton's civic administration is "rotten," retiring president George Choukalos of the Penticton Ratepayers Association said Thursday.

"The city hall of Penticton is the worst in Canada," said Mr. Choukalos. "If I discover two things I'm working on, there will be an investigation."

Suez 'Repairman' Takes
Tougher Job for Canada

LONDON (CP) — Arnold Smith, 46, Canadian diplomat who helped get Britain and the United Arab Republic back on speaking terms after Suez, sets out Saturday on a new and even tougher assignment—ambassador in Moscow.

He is an old friend of two leading diplomats in Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson of the United States and Sir Frank Roberts of Britain.

His last posting was as Canadian ambassador to Cairo. Diplomatic reports credited him with playing a behind-scenes role in restoring harmonious relations between Britain and President Nasser's republic.

GODERICH, Ont. (CP) — A mystery of eight years' standing culminated Friday in a murder charge against Arthur Kendall of Goderich, whose wife disappeared from a summer cottage on Lake Huron in 1952.

Provincial police picked up Kendall, 50, on his way to work and took him to jail at nearby Walkerton. He appeared in court and was remanded until Feb. 2.

Assistant Commissioner Wilford Franks said that, though no body has been found, "we have sufficient evidence to lay a charge of murder."

While unusual, a murder charge without the victim's body is by no means unique. A justice department official at Ottawa said there have been at least two such cases in British Columbia alone in the last 10 years.

Mrs. Kendall, 33, mother of five children, vanished July 31, 1952, from a summer cottage at Johnson's Harbor near Tobermory at the tip of the Bruce Peninsula. The couple was then living in Listowel.

Kendall remarried last March after his wife was declared officially dead.

The clock tower of the British Houses of Parliament was completed May 31, 1851, and the chimes of Big Ben first heard July 11.

'Year of Executions' New Slogan in Cuba

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Castro's regime Friday abruptly switched its official slogan for 1961 from "year of education" to "year of the firing squad" and signalled the apparent beginning of new mass executions.

The change in slogans was announced by extreme leftist Capt. Antonio Nunez Jimenez, executive director of the agrarian reform program.

Nunez said: "We will patiently, stone by stone, erect the most formidable shooting wall in the history of humanity to annihilate the enemies of the revolution."

Health Care Indians' Demand

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Native Brotherhood of B.C. plans to ask the federal government for a commitment on federal medical care for B.C. Indians, legislative councillor Dr. Peter Kelly of Nanaimo said Friday.

He said the brotherhood executive conference has been told by Ottawa authorities the federal government is not committed to general medical treatment of Indians any more than to any other citizen.

The brotherhood claimed the government was obliged to provide medical treatment to B.C. Indians under the terms of union by which B.C. joined Confederation, which said the federal government would take over their care.

Disillusioned Over Apartheid African Sects March Back to Heathenism

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Reading a religious journal the other day I came on some advertisements worded to lure ministers to church vacancies. One boasted "Furnished manse, oil-heated... paved roads, modern schools." Another "Beautiful church, excellent manse—10 minutes drive to university."

So they went, "fully furnished manse," "comfortable, brick, oil-heated manse," "a comfortable parsonage, oil-heated, new garage, close to high and public schools." Details regarding stipend, car allowance and various other allowances were also provided.

My mind flicked back to the memory of a call that came to Paul in the night from a man of Macedonia, "Come over to Macedonia and help us." Lacking the cautious approach of his successors today Paul got hold of Barnabas and "immediately we endeavored to go into Macedonia." When they arrived they found, not the man, but a woman named Lydia who became the first European convert.

Brutally Whipped

In Philippi they were put in jail, brutally whipped and escaped during an earthquake. Next morning a delegation advised them to get out. In Thessalonica a mob attacked them and they were saved by kind friends who got them off by night to Berea. There other mobs set on them, so Paul left for Athens.

In Athens he had the supreme humiliation of ridicule by those experts, the sophists. So down Paul went to Corinth where he supported himself at his trade of tent-making, the minimum stipend not being known at the time. He was brought again to trial the disciples, by the way, spent most of their time in and out of jail, but this time had better fortune and got away to Ephesus.

Again a delegation advised him emphatically that tar and feathers would be a mild fate if he didn't get out, so he went to Antioch, through Galatia and Phrygia, "strengthening the disciples." If anyone thinks this was not typical treatment he should read the 11th chapter of Paul's second letter to the church in Corinth. The floggings which he suffered killed most men. He speaks casually about "setting sail," but sea travel was a hideous experience.

All Were Stoned

His companions had no better fate but then the 11th chapter of Hebrews relates that all in this company were stoned, were sawn asunder, wandered about in sheepskins and goatskins, being destitute, afflicted, tormented.

Jesus had warned them, "Foxes have holes and the birds of the air have nests, but the son of man hath nowhere to lay his head." Times certainly have changed!

Which way is wiser, the appeal to comfort or to courageous adventure? Carlyle claimed that religion gained followers, not by flattering our appetites but by awakening the heroic that slumbers in every heart. Garibaldi en-

Even Christians Quit 'White Man's Religion'

By BRIAN BARROW

CAPETOWN (CP)—There is little doubt, even among supporters of Prime Minister Verwoerd's government, that apartheid is doing irreparable harm to the cause of Christianity in South Africa as well as in African territories outside the union.

Africans in the union are being won over in vast numbers to the belief Christianity is not a true universal religion.

DIRECT CONFLICT

They regard it more and more as a white man's religion, something that smacks of apartheid—racial segregation—and is therefore in direct conflict with basic Christian principles.

This antagonism is spreading even among Africans long ago converted to the Christian faith and among African clerics.

BY THOUSANDS

African separatist churches have sprung up by the thousands. Influential church leaders such as Capetown's Anglican Archbishop Jost de Blank and Roman Catholic Archbishop Owen McCann see the dangers.

After the Sharpeville riots last March, Dr. de Blank warned Africans had not only turned against whites but against the Christian Church which they had come to identify with white oppression.

PAGAN BELIEFS

Archbishop McCann said there were more than 1,000 separatist sects in South Africa whose beliefs and ritual included pagan and tribal practices.

Since Sharpeville these separatist movements have increased to 2,200, with 3,500,000 members.

Many sects have become the bridge over which the Africans, frustrated and disillusioned by white Christianity, are marching back to heathenism.

FRAGMENTATION

This tremendous growth shows the amazing fragmentation of Christianity taking place in South Africa.

Some of the separatists are properly organized bodies recognized by the government and have large followings and well-educated ministry.

MORE POWERFUL

Among these, African nationalism is a more powerful element than religion. Other listed his followers with the challenge "I am going out to Rome. Let those who wish to continue the way against the stranger come with me. I offer him neither pay nor quarters, nor provisions, nor food, nor drink, nor shelter, nor anything else. Let him who loves his country in his heart and not with his lips only, follow me."

A chaplain relates sadly volunteers to go out on a dangerous mission but that the need was fully and quickly met. He wonders what happens to all this heroic in time of peace. It's still there, brother! The only question is, what use has the church got for it?

Adults Who Snub Church Youth In Wrong, Says Victoria Minister

A local minister concedes that some adult church members show a tendency towards overlooking the work of younger members of the congregation, as was claimed recently in Vancouver.

Rev. Dr. G. A. Wheable, a director of the United Church of Canada's Christian education department, was told in Vancouver by a representative of Victoria's First United Church that adults just think about their own activities and don't give young people a chance to prove themselves.

Rev. A. I. Higgins of First United said of the report: "I have no doubt but what some adults think that way about young people in the church."

"But they are the ones who don't come in touch with young people's work and aren't in a position to really make an appraisal of their program," he said.

"My own observations are that young people are a grand bunch of young men and women."

"We had 107 of them, from various parts of the province, together Wednesday night in the First United Church fellowship hall to consider full-time work in the church."

"Regardless of what any adult says, the future of the church rests upon that type of young people, and I take exception to anybody who belittles younger members and their work in the church," said Mr. Higgins.

Bonus Rumor 'Ridiculous'

VANCOUVER (CP)—General manager Herb Capozzi of the British Columbia Lions said a report by former Lions quarterback Al Dorow that B.C. had paid a $10,000 bonus, plus a $50,000 three-year contract for Tom Brown, Minnesota's All-American lineman, was "ridiculous."

"It never has been club policy to reveal players' salaries or bonus payments," said Capozzi.
 Dorow made the statement in New York. He said that the American pro football leagues and the Canadian circuits were proving a bonanza for 1961 college graduates.
 "They never had it so good," said Dorow, quarterback for New York Titans of the American Football League.

Tenpin Records Topple

By JIM TAYLOR

Jim Mills, Herb Chandler and Bel Air Cabinets went on a record-smashing spree at Aurora Lanes this week in games that produced some of the finest bowling seen here in several seasons.

First it was Chandler, who complained bitterly to manager Roy Begg that he "wasn't bowling worth a darn" this year. Then he went out and rolled a 278 for a city high single, starting with nine straight strikes. He left the 6-10 on the first ball of the 10th frame, spared it, and got his final strike.

Chandler's efforts must have acted as a spur for his Bel Air team, which went on to set season records of 1,101 for team single and a 3,006 mark for team triple. That last total, which broke the mark set by Diekie & Shaver earlier this year, had officials digging through the records convinced that it might be an all-time city high. At last report they were still looking.

Contributing to that record total were leadoff man and team sponsor Wilf Smith, 181-191-221 for 593; Sheldon Nipp, 190-166-174 for 530; Lloyd Chow, 228-210-169 for 607; Roy Harris, 224-168-227 for 619; and Chandler, 278-196-183 for 657.

All this took place Tuesday on Thursday night Mills bowled with the King Louis team and set a season record of 685 for three games. His singles were 187 with four blows, 246 and 252.

The total broke his own record of 659 set earlier this season.

Following Mills, Chandler and Harris, the top bowlers at Aurora were Bruce McDermid, 610 (271, 219); Rich Lou, 609 (224, 205); and 597 (203, 201); Bill Holmes, 602 (216, 231); Roy Kerr, 602 (200, 264); Jimmy John, 598 (208); Con McBeth, 592 (215, 202); Dave Barr, 590 (206, 204); Fred Shaw, 586 (212, 213); Bruce Logie, 585 (237); and Joe Richards, 580 (212).

Reg Pugh bowled a Dutch 200.

Best of the lady tenpiners in Victoria for the week were Muriel Dodsforth, 573 (202); Les Murrant, 564 (215); Leona Peterson, 563 and 555 (212); Anne Goodman, 555 (200); Rita Leung, 531 (210); Marg Horne, 529; Peggy Trickett, 530; and Marge Cooper, 528.

High fivepinners on city lanes was Les Larson, who rolled an 874 (331) at Gibson's Bowladrome. He was followed by Gibson's by Dave Williams, 865 (387); Don McKinnon, 791 and 734; Joe Brant, 791 (316); Harry Plowman, 793 (328); C. Pugh, 776 (314); Dolly Milliken, 755; Jean Medforth, 745 (349); I. Ford, 734; Lloyd Lee, 733; and Sam Smitherman, 733.

At Esquimalt Bowladrome the top bowlers were Gary Roskamp, 838 (310) and 832 (360); Bert Nelson, 775; Des Nex, 772; Norm Martin, 771 (321); Harry Young, 767; May Wallis, 766; and Harry Cool, 764.

Build Subway Montreal Told

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec government has given Montreal the authority to build a long-sought subway at a $300,000,000 cost.

Premier Lesage gave the city power to plan, build and finance the subway after allaying fears of surrounding municipalities that their prerogatives might be brushed aside.

and Wally Day 748, were the high bowlers at Capital City lanes.

McLellans set a high team record of 1,127 for single and 3,206 for three in the B.C. Forest Products league at Capital City.

Regional playoffs in preparation for the Western Canada high school fivepin championships will be held in Victoria March 11, with entries expected from all parts of Vancouver Island.

Winners have their expenses paid to the B.C. finals at Burnaby April 8.

Vic High Runner Wins by Whisker

John Vallant's great finishing kick carried him to victory in the 3 1/4-mile invitational cross-country race at Victoria High School yesterday — but only with one second to spare.

The young Vic High star, unbeaten this season, was given the race of his life by teammate Ali Lincoln and Ron Gunter, a promising runner from Oak Bay High. In the final 50 yards the lead changed three times, with Vallant coming from behind to win in 17:54, followed by Lincoln in 17:55 and Gunter in 17:57.

Gunter set an extremely fast pace and led most of the way. With 100 yards to go he was still out in front. Lincoln took over then, Gunter passed him with 50 yards left, and Vallant spurred by both of them to win in the final stride.

On a team basis, Victoria High won the meet, followed by Oak Bay, Victoria University, Belmont High, Ladysmith and Chemainus.

Next test for the Vic High team comes Feb. 10, when it runs in New Westminster against Lester Pearson High and six Fraser Valley schools.

STRONG PADDLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ernest Riedel of the Pendleton Canoe Club in Yonkers, N.Y., won the one-man double blade championship trophy at a mile in successive years between 1923 and 1935 to set an all-time record in the international competition between the United States and Canada.

Bayer Four Strokes Ahead Leonard Tied with Pack

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Slugging George Bayer, the man mountain golfer, thundered around Harding Park in five under par Friday and left four strokes of daylight between himself and the pack at the halfway mark in the $50,000 International tournament.

The six-foot, four-inch, 240-pound giant fired a 66 to go with an opening round of 65 for a 36-hole total of 131 — 11 strokes under par on a course that is not supposed to be a pushover.

There was a big traffic jam for second place with seven men deadlocked at 135. These were Mike Souchak, 68-67; Arnold Palmer, 66-69; Billy Casper, 66-69; Charlie Sifford, 65-70; Don January, 68-67; Ted Kroll, 66-69; and Stan Leonard, Vancouver, 66-69.

But it was Bayer, golf's longest hitter, who now plays out of South Pasadena, Calif., who stole the spotlight with his powerful tee shots and accuracy around the greens.

"I'm controlling my woods and I was putting well," he said after the round. "In 36 holes, I've had only 52 putts."

He had seven birdies and 138 between West Ellis of two bogeys for the round. He West Caldwell, N.J., who had rolled in putts from as far as 71-65, the latter being the best away as 25 and 18 feet. He round of the day; Ernie Vossler, Oklahoma City, Okla., stuff on many holes and on the 68-68 and Al Gieberger, Santa Barbara, Calif., 70-66.

Mrs. Byers:

PTA Critics Wrong

Many parents don't realize the value of Parent-Teacher Associations in our school system. Mrs. Irene Byers, president of Victoria and District PTA Council, said last night.

"There is an awful lot of misunderstanding over the work of our associations," Mrs. Byers said. "I know many people who think PTA groups interfere with the operation of our schools, which is not true."

Just as much ignorance exists, the council president said, of good work done by parent-teacher groups. Mrs. Byers added: "For this reason we were particularly pleased to note in the Chant report that the commissioners were warm in their praise of PTA work throughout B.C."

Oil Paintings On Display

A collection of 16 oil paintings by Robert Wood is on display at the provincial library.

The exhibition, presented by the Victoria Society of Artists, is open to the public except when the legislature is sitting. Mr. Wood painted extensively throughout Europe and North America before coming here in 1956. He teaches land and seascapes painting privately and at night school.

Sevigny Rayner Coming

Associate Defence Minister Pierre Sevigny and Chief of Naval Staff Vice-Admiral H. S. Rayner are scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay airport Monday at 12:35 p.m.

They will attend launching ceremonies Tuesday at 1 p.m. at Victoria Machinery Depot Outer Wharf plant of the destroyer escort HMCS Saskatchewan. Mrs. Rayner will sponsor the navy's newest warship.

An honor guard of the 1st Battalion, PPCLI, will be drawn up on the airport tarmac when the minister's party arrives from Ottawa Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Sevigny will drive to Government House, where they will be guests of Lieutenant-Governor George R. Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes for two days.

PRINCE ALBERT — Ronald McCord, 25, convicted sex offender, was hanged Wednesday in his cell, was buried Friday in the Prince Albert penitentiary plot at a cemetery here.

After shoeing horses for 65 years, blacksmith Charles Grassie of Duncan, has opened another shop to replace one destroyed by fire, and will continue the business started by his father. Duncan Smithy Honors Pledge

DUNCAN — A 79-year-old blacksmith here has kept his promise to horse-owners and has opened for business again after his shop was destroyed by fire last fall.

It took a little longer than expected because of continued thefts from the site of the new shop, including an unsuccessful attempt to steal his 100-pound anvil.

"They stole all my tools, and tried to get my blower and even my anvil but I found it near the road before someone picked it up," chuckled Charles Grassie, who has been shoeing

Cornerstone Discovered But Its Fate Undecided

The cornerstone of the old Royal Jubilee Hospital building has finally been found—but its fate still hangs in the balance.

"If we opened the vault in the cornerstone now," hospital administrator George Masters said yesterday, "it would be like someone getting a picture of Caddie (the sea serpent)—all the fun would be gone."

Mr. Masters at present stands practically alone among members of the Royal Jubilee Hospital board in his stand that the cornerstone should not be opened for another "couple of hundred years."

Missing Skier Vows He'll Be More Careful

DUNCAN — A 25-year-old novice skier who was missing for several hours Thursday in the rugged Forbidden Plateau area west of Courtenay said yesterday he is through with lone cross-country treks.

The Duncan man was located by RCMP early yesterday morning some 15 hours after he had left Forbidden Plateau Lodge for a four-hour run towards Mt. Becher.

Three search parties of experienced woodsmen and skiers moved into the area shortly after dark Thursday and scoured the slopes and trails by moonlight—in an effort to find Richard Plaskett before his strength gave out.

When he was found by the police party rockets had to be fired into the night sky to recall the widely dispersed searchers.

Plaskett, a mill worker, said yesterday "I won't go skiing again alone in that country."

"I can't say I was lost be-

Mental Health

Cramped Quarters Rapped

The rehabilitation social centre for discharged mental patients is unable to carry out its social program because of cramped quarters. A. G. Chatten said last night.

Mr. Chatten, executive director of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association, said at the group's annual meeting that the social centre at Oak Bay Junction, opened only last April, "has been too small for the past four months."

TWO-ROOM

"About 30 persons are now using the two-room, 850-square-foot centre, which also serves as an office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily," he said.

"We are unable to conduct dancing, square dancing and arts and crafts courses there. We must look for a permanent building which can give us enough accommodation."

Mr. Chatten recommended the association consider conducting a building drive. "We need a sheltered area, a haven of security for these people," he said.

RE-ELECTED

H. P. Mickelson was re-elected president of the Victoria branch. Jack Allman was named first vice-president. Kenneth Shore second vice-president. Mrs. May Cooper secretary and Nigel Martin treasurer.

Victorians Win Cars In Continental Contest

Two Victoria residents were among five B.C. and 27 Canadian winners of automobiles in a recent contest sponsored by a milk processing company in the United States and Canada.

They were Mrs. Helen J. Powell, 3010 Larkdowne, who won a Morris "1000" sedan, and Harold E. White, 1055 Princess Avenue, who won a Rambler station wagon.

Only other Vancouver Island winner was Mrs. J. L. Boodle of Campbell River, who received a Chrysler hardtop.

Bogus Bills Found Here Called 'Clever Forgeries'

Some 15 counterfeit $10 bills are most easily detected by checking the serial number or comparing with another $10 bill.

Some 15 counterfeit $10 bills have been found in Victoria in recent months, an RCMP spokesman said last night.

"All the bills bear the same serial number—SD 8325229—and all but one of them were found by bank tellers."

The spokesman said the bills are clever forgeries and

'Help Tourists Spend'

Bruch Offers Ferry, Road Programs

Provincial government was urged yesterday to place a step would increase tourist expenditure. He said Mexico Bay Tsawwassen ferries to help tourists to map out routes and places to visit in B.C.

Herbert Bruch (SC-Esq.)

multi told the legislature such a step would increase tourist expenditure. He said Mexico Bay Tsawwassen ferries to help tourists to map out routes and places to visit in B.C.

Mr. Bruch, moving the reply to the Speech from the Throne, also urged action on a B.C. Alaska marine highway stretching from Sooke, up the island to Port Hardy, by ferry to Kitimat, a further road stretch to Prince Rupert and from there by ferry to Haines, Alaska.

He urged a ferry from Crescent Beach, near Port

Angelo, to Sooke. The highway could also tie in with West Coast Highway 101 which starts at San Diego.

Resignations 'Cleared Up'

Herbert Bruch told the House there had been a misinterpretation over the resignation of 15 social workers from the staff of the social welfare branch during the last fiscal year.

He said 15 had resigned for domestic reasons, 10 to further their education, seven were fired, six left to travel, five were transferred within the government service, four left to take up other employment, two went into municipal social work, two accepted private social agency jobs, two went to welfare departments in other provinces, two left because of illness, two were casually employed only, one left for personal reasons and one left for an unknown reason.

Departments Transferred

Two government bills transferring jurisdiction of the provincial museum to Recreation Minister Westwood and the provincial library to Provincial Secretary Black were given first reading. Both departments are at present under Education Minister Peterson.

The transfer was recommended by the Chant royal commission.

Questioners Set Record

A record of 93 questions ranging in subjects from social welfare to highway contracts are already on the legislative order paper awaiting replies from cabinet ministers.

Social worker David Barrett (CCF-Dewdney), who defeated Labor Minister Lyle Wicks last September, filed 22 questions on social welfare matters.

Appointment of a former Social Credit candidate as superintendent of public works at Kamloops has also drawn some questions.

Cedric Cox (CCF Burnaby) wants Works Minister W. N. Chant to tell him who the civil service commission recommended for the job and where the successful applicant was on the commission's rating.

Avert Chaos Secrecy Ask

Two Social Credit backbenchers are sponsoring a move to amend the B.C. Liquor Act to prevent "chaos," they say would ensue if federal laws relating to the sale and possession of liquor for native Indians were implemented in the province.

Dan Campbell (Comox) and William Murray (Prince Rupert) are convinced federal Indian Act provisions which permit the holding of plebiscites on liquor by Indian bands are unworkable because no liquor vendor would know whether the Indian he was selling liquor to came from a wet or dry band. They favor voting by Indian agencies.

Shelter Rebuttal

Provincial civil defence officials took strong exception yesterday to Dr. Brock Chisholm's opinion that nuclear fallout shelters are a waste of money.

Dr. Chisholm said money intended for fallout shelters should be spent towards establishment of a world police force, a world federated government and elimination of national armies.

THROW UP HANDS James Lister, assistant civil defence co-ordinator, said: "We feel a lot of these scientists have taken the attitude that we may as well throw up our hands and give up."

"Their attitude is not 'Churchillian'," he said. "If old Winston Churchill had taken this attitude, England wouldn't be England today."

NOT NOTICE That's exactly what the enemy wants. Why should we throw up our hands any more than the Russians? They would just walk in and take over."

K. R. H. Roberts, B.C. civil defence instructor, said it is "erroneous" to think a fallout shelter is a waste of money.

Mr. Roberts said a man relying on a fallout shelter might not even notice the effects of radioactivity later but a man remaining outside during a nuclear attack might die or become very ill.

Dr. Chisholm said if world conditions deteriorate to the point of an all-out war there is no doubt shelters would save the lives of some persons but when losses reached 95 per cent "civilization would break down and survivors would revert to a near-stone age existence."

Teamsters Deny Hoffa Direction

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ed Lawson, president of the Teamsters' joint council in B.C., denied Friday the Teamsters' union is taking orders from president Jimmy Hoffa in suggesting the B.C. government outlaw political donations from unions.

"Mr. Hoffa has a few political problems of his own but has no knowledge of our position," he said.

Five-Cent Parking

Council Spurns 'Hold Line' Idea

Laughing off a suggestion by Ald. Rev. J. L. W. McLean that Victoria should preserve its five-cent parking meter rate as a tourist attraction, city council yesterday prepared to channel an increase in receipts into a special fund for off-street parking.

It instructed the city solicitor to prepare a bylaw to provide for placing in an off-street parking fund all parking meter receipts in excess of expenses and an amount representing one mill on the city's tax rate.

Although the meter rate in the one-hour parking, metered area won't go to five cents a half-hour until new meters are installed in three months or so, estimates have been that the bylaw might channel $35,000 into the special fund this year.

Ald. McLean asked Mayor Percy Scurrell if the purpose of raising the meter rate was to enable the city to provide off-street parking.

"That's one," said the mayor, adding that private investors couldn't provide off-street parking in competition with a five-cent rate.

It would be an attraction, Ald. McLean suggested, if Victoria "could say that it was the one city on the continent that still had five-cent parking. It might outdo 'follow the birds'; we could say 'follow the Scotsmen'."

But Mayor Scurrell, smiling, said he couldn't imagine "a tourist coming here because of a nickel," and Ald. Austin Curtis noted that some cities give tourists free parking.

Airport Estimate Fine, Says Mayor

Word that the federal government has placed $600,000 in estimates for the coming fiscal year for construction of a new terminal building at Patricia Bay Airport was greeted as "fine" yesterday by Mayor Percy Scurrell. "That's something definite," he said. Recently he had expressed dismay at delays in approving plans for the project.

Weatherships

Yarrows, VMD To Bid

Spokesmen for both Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrows Ltd. yesterday said they would definitely bid for contracts to construct two $8,000,000 weatherships for service on the West Coast.

They were commenting on the Ottawa announcement that some $2,800,000 will be included in federal estimates for the fiscal year starting April 1. Local officials said the government's action — part of a long-range $44,297,000 ship-building program — was "very encouraging."

Two cutters for the newly formed Canadian Marine Service on this coast are also expected to be started.

Esquimalt Voters Don't Get Vote

Esquimalt residents have no vote in the federal Esquimalt-Saanich riding and Reeves A. C. Wurtele intends to do something about it.

"It is too ridiculous for words," Reeves Wurtele said last night. "None of the municipality of Esquimalt falls within the boundaries of the Esquimalt-Saanich riding."

"We vote with Victoria residents in federal elections and Mr. A. DeB. McPhillips is our representative."

Reeves Wurtele will attempt to either have Esquimalt municipality included in the federal Esquimalt-Saanich riding, or have the name changed to "Saanich ridings."

Night Sitting On Tuesday

First night sitting of the legislature will be held Tuesday, government whip Bert Price said yesterday.

Night sittings are rare so early in the session. First criticism of the government will be voiced Monday at 2 p.m. when Opposition Leader Robert Strachan debates the Throne Speech to be followed by Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

Victoria Mill Loses Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada has rejected an appeal by Acme Sawmills Ltd. of Victoria against lower court judgments ordering it to pay damages of $10,069 for breach of contract. The company was sued by Mahinder Singh for failing to deliver fuel wood under terms of a contract signed in 1955.

Colin Graham, curator, said "I am very much disappointed."

The collection will open early in February at the Vancouver Art Gallery, where it will remain for three weeks before being returned to England.

Provincial Bias Charged

Unfair, Council Cries In Health Unit Split

Before Drive

Find Director Chest Urged

Wisdom of launching the 1961 Community Chest drive without a "good strong executive director" for either the Chest or the member Community Welfare Council was questioned yesterday by Dr. E. N. Boettcher.

Dr. Boettcher, president of the welfare council, said his group has failed to find a new executive director after many months of trying. This served only to aggravate loss of Adrian Gilmore as Chest executive director last month, he said.

"I understand the Chest directors are prepared to mount the coming united appeal campaign on a largely voluntary basis if a replacement is not available by then," Dr. Boettcher said.

He added: "But I still think we ought to get scratching for some extra money so that we can fill either or both of these key positions with a good, strong executive director."

Dr. Boettcher said his organization was "still looking very hard." Unofficial sources reported salary was the main stumbling block.

MARK RASMUSSEN

Provincial government came under renewed fire in city council yesterday for being more generous to smaller municipalities than to cities.

At its previous meeting, council empowered the mayor to seek a better deal for Victoria in any way he saw fit.

UP AGAIN

The subject came up again when the alderman approved in principle the financial arrangements for a proposed metropolitan health board for the whole southern end of Vancouver Island.

"Victoria will save more than $20,000 a year under the new setup, but still will pay about five times as much per capita as Saanich, now served at low municipal cost by the province's Saanich and South Vancouver Island Health Unit."

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, favoring the new setup, nevertheless attacked this circumstance as unfair.

GROWN UP

"Saanich has grown up and should accept the fact and be treated the same as Victoria," he said.

"What you say is correct, but it's not a matter of health costs alone," said Mayor Scurrell. "The provincial government will also pay 100 per cent of the cost of building the Blanchard Street extension outside the city border, and then we are responsible for 100 per cent inside."

"Everything benefiting the outside areas is being given to them without total amalgamation," said Ald. Edgelow. "As we give them these things we are moving away from amalgamation which we should have." He cited the Greater Victoria water board, the library board, the school board and now the health unit.

Saanich, the mayor said, had been saved about $80,000 a year by provincial health service.

"There's nothing we can do about it. But we think it's unfair."

Sweeping Idea Rejected

'Pinch' Litterbugs

A few prosecutions of persons dropping litter on city streets, Mayor Percy Scurrell suggested yesterday, would do much to halt the practice.

"If we put up a lot of warning signs, and pinched a few persons occasionally, I think it would be very helpful," he said during discussion of a proposal by Ald. Edgelow that sidewalks around benches and bus-stops be swept on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays at an extra cost of about $500 a year.

Council rejected the idea, but asked public works committee to consider a suggestion

tion from Ald. Austin Curtis that the city flush downtown streets at night.

(This, city engineer James Garnett estimated later, could cost the city an extra $30,000 or $35,000 a year.)

Other council action: The aldermen endorsed an intermunicipal committee recommendation that councils reject requests for grants to ward building costs of the Salvation Army's Malson Sun-set Lodge for aged persons and the St. John Ambulance training centre, but give the appeals of the two organizations full public support.

● They endorsed in principle construction of a new juvenile detention home, and authorized the intermunicipal committee to have plans drawn and estimates prepared.

● Request of Vancouver architect C. B. K. Van Norman and associates for an extension of time allowed Kingston Apartments Ltd. to pay for the old Kingston Street tennis courts was received and filed — meaning that unless overdue payment is made by Feb. 15, the city will repossess the property.

● A petition for enclosure of Bowker Creek north of Hillside, terming the creek a terrific safety hazard and also unsanitary, was referred to public works committee for consideration of what work should be done this year.

● Council approved a Capital Planning Board budget of $39,278. The board is making an urban renewal study in the city, and Ald. M. H. Mooney remarked, "It's important to have it finished, and this is the cheapest way we could have it done."

● Reconstruction of the fire-damaged Beacon Hill Park nursery maintenance building with concrete blocks instead of wood, at an extra cost of about $12,000, was approved.

● Mayor Percy Scurrell agreed to ask the Memorial Arena commission to file monthly reports with council giving information on activities as well as a financial statement.

Degree Not Type Treatment Guide

A new concept in hospital treatment — progressive patient care — is in the cards this year for St. Joseph's Hospital, medical superintendent Dr. E. N. Boettcher said yesterday.

He told Victoria Lions Club the new concept was the basis of all planning for the hospital's $2,500,000 building program.

Progressive patient care, said Dr. Boettcher, provides care for patients by degrees of illness, rather than as at present by types of illness.

One area would include patients in critical condition, whether from heart ailments, operations or accidents, he said. A bigger area would accommodate intermediate cases,

Another Day Of Sunshine

Another sunny day was forecast for Victoria today by the weather office. Daytime temperatures were expected to drop slightly to about 40 degrees.

Vancouver's fog is expected to clear a bit around noon.

$15,000 Too Much to Bring Art Here

Directors of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria announced yesterday they turned down a chance to show part of the Duke of Bedford's Woburn Abbey collection here upon learning it would cost $15,000.

Thinking earlier it would cost only $5,000, they managed to get offers of financial assistance from the Canada Council and the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association. But when the $15,000 figure came up, they changed their minds.

"Since the gallery's annual budget is only $26,000, it was clear it could not sustain the expected deficit of $5,000 to $7,000 on the exhibition," said a spokesman.

Most of the $15,000 would have been spent on insurance, guards and the presence of the Duke of Bedford, he said.

Timely and Topical But Just Not True

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

Books for 240 copies of "West Africa and the Commonwealth."

Somebody goofed. The publishers delivered 230 copies of the unabridged edition of "Lady Chatterley's Lover."

The books were quickly returned before the censors could enlarge their knowledge of strategy and tactics.

STEADY DIET: Cast of the Theatre Guild production "George and Margaret" will probably hie off for a good solid steak after the closing curtain.

It seems that sausages are served in a breakfast scene and director Bert Williams insisted that they be eaten at rehearsal so that the cast would engender a liking for the fare.

Rose Merryweather, who is in charge of small properties, estimates eight pounds of sausages will have been eaten by the actors before the play ends its run.

BACKWOODS ODYSSEY: Omineca MLA Cyril Sheldford did it again yesterday.

Every session he has the other members convulsed as he relates some folksy anecdote from his backwoods riding in northern B.C.

Last summer, he told the House yesterday, it was announced at the Oolisa Lake Stampede that a neighbor of his, Smokey Naylor, was about to compete in the bronco-busting contest.

"Smokey's now in the chute and is riding Gagliardi," said the ring announcer.

"Well, you can just imagine the reaction of all those people when they heard the name of the horse was Gagliardi," drawled Mr. Sheldford. "Everybody thought it would be a real fiery horse."

"Then they opened the chute and do you know what happened?" he continued. "Gagliardi stayed in the chute and just kicked."

GIVE AND TAKE: Several exchanges between government and opposition members of the legislature yesterday showed that the MLAs have indeed sharpened their wits.

Cyril Sheldford (SC, Omineca) was talking about change of names for political parties, an obvious dig at the New Party.

"I guess the Conservatives started it some time ago by changing their name," said Mr. Sheldford.

"Yeah, the premier did too," snorted Len Nimblek (CCF, Cranbrook) referring to Premier Bennett's former allegiance to the Tory party.

Herbert Bruch (SC, Esquimalt) was reading a list of reasons why so many social workers quit the department last year.

"Illness, two ... casually employed, two," intoned Mr. Bruch.

"For running as a CCF candidate, one," interjected Opposition leader Robert Strachan, in reference to the firing of social worker David Barrett (CCF, Dewdney) after he had been nominated by the CCF.

"That's the not known, one, I guess," continued Mr. Bruch.

COURT CIRCULAR

Kensington Palace,
Jan. 23.

The Duchess of Kent, accompanied by Princess Alexandra of Kent, left London Airport this afternoon in a Comet aircraft of Transport Command Royal Air Force (Squadron Leader P. E. Pullan), for Switzerland.

The Lady Rachel Davidson and Lieutenant-Commander Nicholas Hunt were in attendance.

Gardens Subject Of Talks

A new class has been added to the curriculum at the YWCA and this one is designed especially for homeowners and prospective landowners, both male and female. Beginning Feb. 2 Mr. Lloyd Park will give a series of five lectures on "Landscaping and Gardening." Several lectures will be illustrated with color slides.

Subjects included will be landscaping, fertilizers, insecticides, flower arrangements, shrubs, planters, seed germination and cuttings and many other subjects.

Mr. Park is considered an authority on the subjects he will cover.

Those wishing to attend must register in advance.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Readers: The wet noodle comes out of retirement—or better still, I'll take 10 swats with Webster's dictionary, unabridged.

Did you know that when sisters marry, the husbands of said sisters are not even remotely related? I'll bet you thought the boys were brothers-in-law. Well, so did I—but I know better now. About 400 readers have told me.

I will explain it as dozens of readers explained it to me: Princess Margaret is a sister-in-law to Prince Philip, because she is his wife's sister. But Margaret's husband, Mr. Jones, is no relation whatever to Prince Philip. They are just a couple of nice boys who married sisters.

My apologies to the reader who asked the original question. And my thanks to all you nice people who wrote to set me straight.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been dating Joe for over a year. We work in the same plant and I knew he was married but he said it wasn't working out. Joe never spoke of his wife, except to say she was sloppy and stupid.

In August I went to the company picnic with some girls from the plant. Joe hung around me as usual. One of his buddies came over and warned me to "be careful" because Joe's wife and kids had just arrived on the bus. When I saw them I almost died. His wife looked about 50 years old and she had six little kids hanging on to her skirts. Three were still in diapers.

I felt so ashamed of myself I was sick to my stomach. Joe ignored them as if they were strangers. Finally I told him to leave me alone and go to his family. I've been feeling so guilty that I'm sure the only way I can square things with myself is to go to his wife and beg her forgiveness. Should I?—LOWER THAN LOW.

Dear Lower Than: No. You may feel better, but it won't help her much.

The best way to square yourself is to stay as far away from Joe as possible. Best of all, why don't you find another job?

Women like you, who date married men, flatter the vanity of these Tomcats and encourage prowlings. They should be blocked at the very first pass, told to grow up and go home to their families—where they belong.

How To Save Money—

Save money on laundry bills. Washers and other laundry equipment need special care if you want them to keep their original beauty. But there's no need for expensive dry cleaning—just when you use ZERO. Specially made to wash wool, Orlon and Rayon in cool, tepid or lukewarm water, new ZERO will give your knitted garments the finest possible care with no danger of shrinking or matting. Brighter colors, more softness, for only a cent a garment—even less with large size ZERO. In the package with the big and "Z".

The stakes are high in this bridge game. Members of the Vic Van Isle Kinette club "warm-up" for the club-sponsored bridge tournament which starts Monday and runs for eight weeks. The tournament will be played round robin fashion, each person guaranteed at least seven evenings of play. The prizes: First prize, $30 per couple; second prize, $15 per couple; group winner, $8 per couple and a perpetual trophy awarded all winners. Left to right are Mrs. W. L. Ingram, Mrs. M. D. Willie, Mrs. R. A. Mercer and Mrs. R. C. Midgley, all Vic Van Isle Kinette members, pictured with the club trophy.

Suddenly No YMCA Nor YWCA Just YM-YWCA Combined Now

It was a strange sight at the YMCA building when the board of directors attending a luncheon meeting was nearly half women, and a woman president was in the chair (Friday, Jan. 27). For over 40 years board meetings have been a male stronghold at YMCA, 1203 Blanshard Street, but suddenly there is no YMCA nor YWCA. There is one Association. The YW-YMCA. It takes some getting used to. Even the staffs are bewildered. A clerk at YMCA (the former YWCA that is) says if she answers the telephone, "YMY... that's as far as she gets before the caller says, 'Oh, I'm sorry, I was calling the YW.'"

The amalgamation of the Victoria Young Men's Christian Association and the Young Women's Christian Association took place officially on Jan. 3, 1961, when a new constitution was registered with the provincial government. President is Mrs. A. H. Sheard, and 1st vice-president is Dr. Allan F. McGill, former president of YWCA. It is likely that the presidency will alternate between a man and a woman in the future.

NEW BUILDING
A new building is in the offing. Negotiations are proceeding but there is "nothing definite to report at this time," according to the president. "It may be two or three years before we can build."

The YW-YMCA whenever it moves into new quarters, will be more than a building. All its activities are motivated by a broad purpose. This purpose is to express in every day living the Christian belief in the worth of every person, and the power of the people, when they think and act together, to influence for good, the community and the world in which they live.

"All men and women, boys and girls are welcome to participate in the life of the association in both buildings, whatever their race, creed, color or economic status. These diversities and the richness of different cultures and traditions help to achieve YW-YMCA objects," said Vivian Shoemaker, general secretary of the YW-YMCA. "We have much to learn from each other," said Mrs. Phyllis Graveley, executive director of YW-YMCA. She is known everywhere for her excellent physical and health program. YWCA takes pride in being the largest and oldest women's organization in the world. It makes representation to the Canadian Government and has consultative status with United Nations. We intend sharing our strengths, as we work together in Victoria.

There are about 18 Amalgamated Associations in Canada, some are small branches.

Alumnae Gains New Group

A new branch of the St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing Alumnae was formed in Nanaimo during the past week. Mrs. A. Brown of Nanaimo was elected president at the inaugural meeting of 27 alumnae.

Mrs. W. W. McLuhan, president of the Victoria group, presented Mrs. Brown with a gavel on behalf of the Alumnae association in Victoria. Also in attendance was Mrs. G. Rose, membership chairman from Victoria. Mrs. McLuhan stressed the main objective of the Alumnae which is the educational needs for student nurses.

ST. PETER'S
Mrs. J. Churchill was re-elected president of St. Peter's Ladies' Evening Guild (Lake Hill) recently at the annual meeting. Other officers returning for a second term: Mrs. M. Ackerman, vice-president; Mrs. J. Taylor, social convener and Mrs. D. Preston, publicity. Dr. Kennedy King officiated at the elections. The group also discussed plans for a tea and bazaar for April 12.

PERSONAL MENTION

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Peakes will be hosts Monday to the Hon. J. P. A. Seavigny, PC Associate Minister of National Defence and Mrs. Seavigny who will stay at Government House for several days.

Tuesday, Vice-Admiral H. S. Rayner, chief of naval staff, Ottawa, will call on the Lieutenant Governor and with Hon. Seavigny will attend a small luncheon given by His Honor and Mrs. Peakes. Following this the party will attend the launching of destroyer escort HMCS Saskatchewan at Victoria Machinery Depot. In the afternoon Mrs. Peakes will give a tea in honor of Mrs. Seavigny and that evening His Honor and Mrs. Peakes will attend a dinner at the Union Club arranged by directors of VMD to celebrate the launching.

Wednesday, Feb. 1, the Lieutenant-Governor will give the second of the State Dinners. The next day they will attend Minor Hockey Night at the Memorial arena.

Leave for New York

Leaving Wednesday by air for New York, Detroit and other points in the East are Mr. and Mrs. James B. Waddell of 511 Francis Street. The trip will commemorate the couple's 20th wedding anniversary.

Nursing in Hawaii

Miss Arlene Reynolds, 1613 Belmont Avenue, a 1960 graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital, is travelling to Hawaii to take up new nursing duties there. Enroute, she will be joined by a classmate, Miss Eleanor Sparling of New Westminster. Mrs. C. Reynolds accompanied her daughter as far as Vancouver and will return to the city shortly.

Wedding Guests

Victorians who travelled to the mainland recently for the Switzer-Richardson wedding in North Burnaby were Mrs. L. J. McInnis, Mrs. R. McIntyre, Miss L. Richardson and Mr. O. McGregor.

Family Wedding

A quiet family wedding took place Saturday, Jan. 21, in St. Paul's Church, Esquimalt, when Joan, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Curtis of Hornchurch, England, became the bride of Christopher Verdin Brown, younger son of Cdr. J. A. Brown, RCNR (Ret.) and Mrs. Brown, 437 Constance Avenue.

Going to Montreal

Capt. and Mrs. William Stirling, 329 Anson Street, entertained friends last evening prior to a mess party at Work Point in honor of Mrs. Sylvia Roberts who leaves with her children at the end of the month, to join her husband, Lieut. Michael Roberts, in Montreal. Lieut. Roberts was recently posted from Work Point to the Canadian Postal Corps, Montreal.

For Heather Wishart

Miss Heather Wishart was honored at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. V. Palliser, 347 Island Highway, on Monday. Miss J. Henderson was co-hostess. Those present were Mrs. D. Wishart, mother of the guest of honor, Mrs. D. Keenan, Mrs. J. Brett, Mrs. D. McLellan, Mrs. B. Coultas, Mrs. M. Pearson, Mrs. C. Coulter, Mrs. D. Richardson, Mrs. A. Fido, Mrs. J. Henderson, Mrs. A. Halstead, Mrs. S. Hemen, Mrs. R. Morrison, Mrs. A. Ensor, Mrs. P. Nash, Mrs. L. Russell and the Misses J. Valen, B. Alexander, D. Jury, H. Clark, B. Gillies, R. Parib, B. Crowther, D. Sutherland, L. Richardson, M. Rain, L. Nelson, B. Peete, V. McNally, B. Williamson and B. Mann.

For Today's Bride

Miss Sandra Zanichelli, whose marriage to Mr. Clarence Boehm took place this morning, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. J. D. Maloney, 2705 Prior Street. Corsages were presented to the bride and to her mother, Mrs. J. Zanichelli. Gifts were in a decorated basket. Refreshments were served during the evening to the guests who included Mrs. P. Zozula, Mrs. J. Vye, Mrs. G. Sahkstrom, Mrs. N. Grave, Mrs. W. Ormiston, Mrs. G. Phillips, Mrs. R. Cote, Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. F. Boehm, Mrs. E. Allen, Mrs. J. Neirnan and the Misses Patricia Zanichelli, Judy Maloney, Jean Davidson, Mary-Ann Woodbury, Marie Longpre and Marie Hickman.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, Jan. 28.—I know all about the "morning rush"... it happens every time I see "Red River" ready! Yes, they all gather 'round in a hurry for their piping hot bowls of RED RIVER CEREAL. It's as nourishing as it's delicious—with its delightful blending of cracked wheat, rye and flax. And Red River is so easy to prepare—cooks in just a few minutes—and costs so little per serving. Youngsters and active adults need the extra energy values in Red River cereal. It's a daily guard against sluggishness. Delight your family tomorrow morning with "Red River's ready!"

IF YOU'RE IN THE MID-WINTER DOLDRUMS, here's a corrective you really must try! A special, specially effective, yet gentle regulator for women. It's CORRECTOL, developed by the Pharmaco people after intensive research. Where ordinary laxatives may prove harsh or fail, Correctol's gentle, waste-softening action brings prompt but unburied relief. Ideal, too, during pregnancy and after childbirth. Yes, Correctol is truly the answer to our special needs as women—I know you'll agree. So write to me for FREE SAMPLES—1411 Crescent St., Montreal, Quebec.

FOOD BILLS HIGH? Here's one way to cut food costs without losing good taste or nutrition in your cooking. Instead of using the high price spread on your table, use BLUE BONNET MARGARINE. It has a fresh, sunnysweet flavor your family will love. It's an all vegetable margarine, which means it's nutritious. I always keep plenty of Blue Bonnet Margarine on hand for the table, or for my cooking. You'll find that Blue Bonnet makes very light pastry, and unusually tender cakes. And it's ideal for frying, or as a vegetable topping. Blue Bonnet is economical, nutritious, and makes just about everything taste better!

WANT TO KNOW MY 'SECRET WEAPON'? I keep my kitchen and bathroom drains absolutely germ-free by using GILLET'S DRAIN CLEANER at least once a week. You see, Gillett's Drain Cleaner with its special churning, boiling action, cleans out every trace of germ-causing muck that collects in clogged up drains. Just 3 tablespoons of Gillett's Drain Cleaner in every drain, every week, does the trick simply, easily and effectively. Right now there's a special low price on Gillett's—so buy now!

A FUR COAT ON YOUR BACK is worth two in your furrier's window... so, with seasonal reductions now being made, why not finance your new fur coat right now under the BANK OF MONTREAL Family Finance Plan? The ability to make monthly loan repayments, without hardship, is all you require to borrow under this low-cost, comprehensive plan. There's automatic life insurance, and repayments can be spread over two, or even three, years. Whether it's a new fur coat or something else important to you, chances are you can get it by arranging your loan with the Bank of Montreal Family Finance Plan loan at your neighbourhood branch of "My Bank".

HERE'S A LETTER from a postman who says, "I am exposed to cold, dampness and chill. For more than three years, I suffered greatly from sharp pains of sciatica in my hip and thigh. Eventually I got around to taking TEMPLETON'S T-R-C's and found wonderful relief." Do try T-R-C's if you suffer from rheumatic, arthritic or neuritic pain. With each purchase of T-R-C's you will be given a Free Sample of FLAME-Cream Lintiment, a brand new Templeton medication for muscular aches and pains. T-R-C's taken internally, and FLAME-Cream applied externally, combine to provide you with Double Action for fast, comforting relief from pain.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Stephens, 1481 Hillside Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Muriel Joan, to Mr. Douglas James Porteous, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas H. Porteous, 540 Snelling Street. The marriage will take place Saturday, Feb. 18 at 7.30 p.m. in St. Alban's Church. The bride-elect has asked Miss Davida Dunnett to be maid of honor, and Miss Sharon Stephens to be bridesmaid. Best man will be Mr. Kenneth Edwards and ushers, Mr. Grant Stephens and Mr. David Porteous.

American Predicts:

Two Men in Orbit Next Red 'Trump'

No Harder For Pair To Survive

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's next space spectacular could be to put two men into orbit, both in the same big capsule.

She would not only seize the prize of being first in human space flight—two men would trump even more the U.S. program to put one astronaut into orbit.

Four Soviet range ships patrolling the Pacific for the last week in the target area used for some of the Russian missile firings indicate Russia is on the verge of trying another space shot.

A U.S. space official said the Russians have the capability of a big booster rocket and large capsule, and "solving the problems of re-entry and life support is no harder for two men than for one."

Many space and rocket experts think the race to put a man in space is almost sure to go to the Russians. The Soviets long have had much more powerful booster rockets.

The U.S. timetable doesn't foresee sending a man on a few trips around the earth until much later this year.

Europe Booming

Immigration Flow May Drop in 1961

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration to Canada in 1961 may fall below 100,000 for the first time since 1950 unless a surge in the Canadian economy becomes apparent by early spring.

The movement of immigrants has decreased steadily since 1957, when the flow reached a postwar high of 282,164.

BOOMING THEN
Immigration soared in 1957 because of a booming Canadian economy in 1956 and the early part of 1957. Immigrants were needed to fill vacant jobs and plenty were available in Britain and Europe.

The picture has now changed. The Canadian economy has levelled out and the number of workers exceeds available jobs. In addition, prosperity has returned to Europe and Europeans are not interested in migrating.

These conditions—along with publicity abroad about unemployment in Canada—reduced immigration in 1959 to 106,928. The flow this year is expected to be about the same or perhaps less.

Government officials do not anticipate any economic recovery in Europe which would encourage migration in 1961. And the prospect of any immediate surge in the Canadian economy creating a need for immigrants in large numbers appears remote.

Firetruck, Car Meet

Car Driver Badly Hurt

Downtown crash of a city firetruck and a car yesterday sent a 41-year-old Esquimalt man to hospital with serious head and chest injuries.

William Mendres, 1224 Bawley, last night was in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital with a fractured skull and chest injuries. He was eased from the crushed-in right side of the front seat by Constables Brian

Bus Skids Whole Block

VANCOUVER (UPI)—A B.C. Electric bus skidded for a block along an icy Vancouver street Friday, spun around and turned on its side.

Twenty passengers and the driver were shaken, but unhurt. They got out by climbing up through the regular doors. Police blocked off traffic on several blocks of the street when several cars locked bumpers after swerving to miss the bus in the fog.

$100,000 Vanishes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The FBI said Friday a package containing $100,000 was stolen from an Australian Qantas Empire Airways safe at San Francisco International airport.

Agent Bruce Banks said the money was taken by someone who apparently knew the combination.

KENNEDY MAY MEET K IF HE COMES TO UN

Chimp Space Bound

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young chimpanzee, a specimen of man's most intelligent tree-dwelling cousin, is scheduled to be rocketed into space briefly next week, perhaps Tuesday.

If all goes well on the 290-mile, 16-minute flight into the Atlantic from Cape Canaveral, Fla., one of the seven human U.S. astronauts will have a ticket for the next such trip.

The United States' hopes of hurling a man into an earth orbit sometime this year are pinned to success on these two shots.

A chimp was selected for the pioneer flight because his body and mind mostly nearly resemble man's. In fact, a chimp's mental processes are more man-like than ape-like.

$12,600,000 In the Red

Surplus Food For Jobless?

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is considering plans to distribute surplus Canadian foodstuffs to welfare agencies to assist the unemployed, it was learned Friday night.

A federal government source said a detailed plan has not yet been evolved, but several departments have been put to work studying the problem.

Distribution of surplus foodstuffs to help unemployed heads of families and individuals has been urged on Ottawa by a number of labor unions and welfare organizations. They have won a sympathetic hearing from Prime Minister Diefenbaker, it was reported.

At present the principal surpluses in Canada are butter and wheat.

Kennedy Muzzles Top U.S. 'Brass'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The week-old Kennedy administration, in keeping with its policy of "quiet diplomacy," was clamped a tight lid on foreign policy speeches or other "inadvisable" statements by officials of its military services and other departments.

The policy is reminiscent of the early days of the Eisenhower administration when former defence secretary Charles E. Wilson ordered a halt to missile rattling and statements on inter-service rivalry.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke (chief of naval operations) was the first affected by the Kennedy policy. Burke had prepared a "tough" speech on U.S. relations with Russia for delivery last night at a national business publications dinner here.

But the White House, reportedly "disgruntled" by what Burke planned to say, ordered it rewritten. It emerged a rather innocuous exposition of the need for sea power, in facing "the perils of the future."

Cross indicates point at which elusive Santa Maria made drastic alteration in her course last night indicating rebel commander's earlier announced destination of Angola may have been "decoy."—(AP Photofax.)

Pirates' Ship Shifts Course

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The U.S. Navy said Friday night the rebel Portuguese passenger ship Santa Maria has "drastically changed" course and is heading in a southeasterly direction. It appeared to be veering away from a direct course that would take it to Africa.

Announcement of the change followed a U.S. promise of safe conduct for the rebel skipper to discharge his 588 captive passengers at port.

The navy told the rebel, Capt. Henrique Galvao, it would take no action against the ship if he would carry out his announced willingness to release the passengers he holds as virtual hostages.

The ship's last reported position was almost directly on the equator.

At the same time the navy ordered Rear Admiral Allen Smith, commander of the Caribbean sea frontier, to Belem, Brazil.

U.S. BASE

Belem was chosen as U.S. base if the Santa Maria decides to confer with navy officials.

Galvao said he was ready to meet U.S. authorities aboard the ship or at a landing port.

Galvao also said he would accept a U.S. navy escort to protect him from Portuguese warships steaming to head him off from his earlier announced destination of Angola in Portuguese West Africa.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT

There was no announcement by the U.S. of such an offer, however.

Portugal's speedy new frigate, the Perla Escobar, armed with three-inch guns, is among Portuguese ships speeding after the Santa Maria.

The rebels have threatened to scuttle the ship if attacked.

He'd Be Delighted Says Stevenson

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Adlai Stevenson expressed belief Friday that President Kennedy would be delighted to meet with Premier Khrushchev if the Soviet leader shows up at the UN General Assembly in March.

Stevenson, new U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made the statement at a press conference. He also expressed a desire for improved relations with Communist China.

There has been speculation that Khrushchev may attend the resumed session of the General Assembly opening March 7. Stevenson was asked whether Kennedy would welcome informal contacts with Khrushchev if the Soviet premier does come.

CAN'T SPEAK

"I cannot speak for the president on this matter because I have not discussed it with him, but my guess is that he would be happy to meet Mr. Khrushchev here," Stevenson replied.

"I would hope very much that we could achieve peaceful relations and restore harmony and security to the world, and that, of course, would include China."

WASHINGTON SURPRISED

Washington officials appeared to be surprised by the Stevenson statement even though there was no adverse comment on it.

Diplomatic observers in Washington said the statement could be construed in Moscow as an informal way of getting word to Khrushchev that if he wanted to come to New York he would be asked to Washington.

School Janitor Faces Drug Peddling Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 38-year-old janitor employed by this Vancouver school board was charged Friday with trafficking in narcotics.

John McKinley is also charged with selling narcotics.

Charged jointly with McKinley is his wife, Patricia, 30. She is charged with possession of drugs for the purpose of trafficking and faces a further charge of possession of drugs.

McKinley was arrested Thursday after he allegedly sold five capsules of heroin to an RCMP officer posing as an addict.

Siren Tests On Tuesdays

OTTAWA (CP)—Tuesdays have been earmarked as air raid siren test days across the country, army headquarters announced Friday.

First test will take place at 8.30 a.m. Feb. 7 in selected cities. Further tests will be every two months on the first Tuesday of the month.

Fuss Over Royal Hunt Absurd—'India Hand'

DUNCAN—There is nothing unsporting in shooting tigers from a tree-platform according to one of Duncan's "old India hands" and former "white hunter" to King George V.

Col. M. E. Dopping-Hepenstal said criticism of Prince Philip for shooting a tiger from a 25-foot-high platform at Rajasthan, India, earlier this week is unfounded.

"It is absurd for these people to complain about the royal hunt," the veteran soldier said.

EXTERMINATE THEM

"Tigers are a menace and should be exterminated."

He said shooting tigers from a tree-platform is actually one of the more difficult ways of killing them because the animals only appear for the bait around dusk when light conditions make for tough shooting.

"It is very difficult shooting," said the colonel.

He said reading of Prince Philip's tiger hunt took him back to 1911 when he accompanied King George V on safari.

The royal party was rather

COL. M. E. DOPPING-HEPENSTAL
... tigers a menace

large, and while the king was an excellent shot and knocked down 19 tigers of the total bag of 30, some of the others were not.

"One of the royal entourage became so enraged and humiliated when he missed a tiger time after time that he finally threw down his expensive rifle in disgust."

Another nimrod, clobbered one of the party's work elephants by mistake, but the animal survived in spite of a 24-inch-deep hole in the head.

ACT AS ARBITER

At one point on the hunt Col. Dopping-Hepenstal had to act as arbiter between two members of the party who couldn't agree on the ownership of a rhinoceros trophy.

One of the hunters who claimed it was the man which the beast had chased into camp, the other was the man who gunned it down at the crucial moment.

"I gave it to the man who fired the shot," said the Colonel.

Tiger Tempest Upsets India

(Special To The Colonist)

NEW DELHI—Reports that a section of the British press has severely criticized the Queen and Prince Philip for taking part in a tiger shoot has surprised, pained and even angered many Indians in New Delhi.

While there has been no comment at all in the daily press on the attitude of certain British papers and personalities the Indian civil servants, journalists, soldiers, drivers and bearers with whom this reporter spoke Friday are unanimous in describing it as a ridiculous campaign which has embarrassed both India and its royal guests.

The news of the tiger shoot was featured on the front page of every New Delhi newspaper and I have not met anyone who was not pleased that India was able to offer the duke a successful day's sport.

If he had failed to get his tiger they would have felt that they had failed as hosts.

The only protests have come from a small group calling itself the Ahimsa Party which is mainly composed of Jains, a sect which follows the philosophy of non-violence to the lengths of breathing through cloth so as not to harm animals they might inhale.

Suggestions in England that tiger shooting is an imperialistic sport that died out with the departure of the British raj is laughed at. "Why give a sport which Nasser and Tito enjoyed an imperialistic flavor just because the Queen is here?" an Indian journalist asked. "We do not think in terms of imperialism any more."

One fear generally expressed is that these comments in Britain will cast a blight on a tour which is welcomed by every Indian.

Letters to the Editor

Poor Foresight

Councillor Joseph Casey of Saanich seems to show poor foresight when he advocates throwing out town planning in our municipality.

Contrary to Councillor Casey's apparent contention some property subdividers have almost free rein and made quick profits without any regard for the future welfare of our community. It is this type of abuse that town planning is designed to stop.

As a responsible representative of the electors, Councillor Casey should re-examine his attitude towards planning, put his shoulder behind the wheel and push for what is right.

Reform Parties

Someone has to bring up the rearward. The Colonist, Jan. 24, seems to be volunteering in the old-fashioned game of referring to reform parties as being socialist, all the time. Like all capitalist political organizations, including that of one Adolph Hitler, the reform parties need a leader in German known as Führer. Leadership, as an institution, had its beginnings with brainwashing, which is coeval with slavery and began at the dawn of civilization and class cleavage.

"Socialist leader" makes about as much sense as "democratic dictatorship" or "black white." But King Capital controls the press.

Engineer Service

With reference to your editorial, "It Should Have Been Fenced," it will be very astonishing to the construction trade and engineers to learn that the federal government breakwater in Oak Bay proved to be a near death trap for a young girl. Recent southeast gales might have been expected to consolidate the rock mound.

Old-timers may recollect that during 20 years, 1913 to 1934, the federal public works department maintained an engineering staff at Victoria. The Ottawa Conservative Bennett-Stephens administration thought in 1933 to ameliorate the severe depression by a big reduction of government engineering personnel throughout Canada, and closed the Victoria office in favor of a centralized public works engineer staff located at New Westminster.

This death trap incident at Oak Bay suggests that there might be advantages if the Victoria office of federal public works was reactivated. Very important harbor works are centred around this southeasterly end of Vancouver Island, including naval and drydock facilities. Repairs, renewals, and general engineering maintenance might be much more efficiently administered from Victoria, especially during periods when the mainland is fogbound.

Gaglardi Action Halted At Opposition's Request

VANCOUVER (CP) — A British Columbia Supreme Court action to have Highways Minister Gaglardi removed from the legislature has been withdrawn by Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy.

Mr. Sturdy said Friday he withdrew the action at the request of the opposition. He did not say who in the opposition made the request. However, Mr. Sturdy said he is free to resume the action at any time.

The lawyer had based his action, started earlier this week, on a contempt of court conviction against Mr. Gaglardi.

Mr. Sturdy's suit is on the allegation that, under the Provincial Elections Act, Mr. Gaglardi cannot sit as a member of the legislature, having been convicted of an unlawful offence.

"The opposition asked me to withdraw the suit to give them a chance to question the matter in the house," said Mr. Sturdy.

"If Mr. Gaglardi is not expelled from the legislature or does not resign, I propose to start the action again."

Civic Administration 'Rotten' in Penticton

PENTICTON (CP) — Penticton's civic administration is "rotten," retiring president George Choukalos of the Penticton Ratepayers Association said Thursday.

"The city hall of Penticton is the worst in Canada," said Mr. Choukalos. "If I discover two things I'm working on there will be an investigation."

Suez 'Repairman' Takes Tougher Job for Canada

LONDON (CP) — Arnold Smith, 46, Canadian diplomat who helped get Britain and the United Arab Republic back on speaking terms after Suez, sets out Saturday on a new and even tougher assignment — ambassador in Moscow.

He is an old friend of two leading diplomats in Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson of the United States and Sir Frank Roberts of Britain.

His last posting was as Canadian ambassador to Cairo. Diplomatic reports credited him with playing a behind-scenes role in restoring harmonious relations between Britain and President Nasser's republic.

Law's Long Arm

DEEP RIVER, Ont. (CP) — Two atomic scientists say Canadians will not build fallout shelters unless forced to do it and the federal government should take over the job.

Dr. O. J. Runnalls, a metallurgist, and Dr. A. J. Mooradian, a fuel development engineer, spoke to a meeting called to discuss civil defence. Both work at the nearby Chalk River atomic energy plant.

Dr. Mooradian said residents of Deep River were fully aware of the peril of fallout in a nuclear attack. But even they had shown no interest in basement fallout shelters.

"If the people here won't build shelters how do you expect to persuade the other people in Canada to do it?" he asked.

Dr. C. A. Mawson, a radiation biologist, said the government has not informed Canadians of the effect of nuclear war. He estimated it would cost $700,000,000 to provide shelters for Canada's population — half of the annual defence budget.

Nanaimo Near Normal

NANAIMO — Employment levels remained fairly close to normal in the Nanaimo area during the month of January.

Jack Clark, manager of the National Employment Service here, said that the number of persons registered as unemployed is only slightly higher than last year.

At the present time 1,770 men and 360 women are registered for work compared with 1,686 men and 323 women a year ago.

Peak unemployment for the season appears to have been reached during the first week of January and there has been a slow but steady decline since that time.

Mr. Clark said that because of high log inventories and some weakness in the market, most companies are operating at a reduced scale and several operations have delayed resumption of work even though weather conditions have been favorable.

There was an increase in unemployment among construction workers due to the completion of a number of projects and temporary layoffs on others. Approximately seventy men are now employed in construction of the new Nanaimo regional hospital and work has commenced on a $100,000 medical building.

The N.E.S. manager said work should commence during the next few months on the $725,000 renovation of the Nanaimo assembly wharf and the $1,000,000 fisheries development on Big Qualicum River.

ALL ALONE

The only commercial production of nitrate of soda in the world is in the north of Chile.

After shoeing horses for 65 years, blacksmith Charles Grassie of Duncan, has opened another shop to replace one destroyed by fire, and will continue the business started by his father. He won't quit because of the number of horse owners who depend upon him and because he prefers having something to do.—(Colonist photo by Charles Thompson.)

Duncan Smithy Honors Pledge

DUNCAN — A 79-year-old blacksmith here has kept his promise to horse-owners and has opened for business again after his shop was destroyed by fire last fall.

It took a little longer than expected because of continued thefts from the site of the new shop, including an unsuccessful attempt to steal his 100-pound anvil. "They stole all my tools, and tried to get my blower and even my anvil but I found it near the road before someone picked it up," chuckled Charles Grassie, who has been shoeing horses for 65 years. "People will take anything."

A youth took a heavy $60 jack "that I wouldn't like to have to lug 10 feet," Mr. Grassie tracked it down and got it back.

"A couple of nights ago someone broke in and took two $4 screwdrivers and a couple of fishing spearheads I'd just made," he said.

"But thefts or no thefts I don't plan on giving up until I have to." Mr. Grassie is the only blacksmith between Nanaimo and the Malahat.

Missing Skier Vows He'll Be More Careful

DUNCAN — A 25-year-old novice skier who was missing for several hours Thursday in the rugged Forbidden Plateau area west of Courtenay said yesterday he is through with long cross-country treks.

The Duncan man was located by RCMP early yesterday morning some 15 hours after he had left Forbidden Plateau Lodge for a four-hour run towards Mt. Becher.

THREE PARTIES

Three search parties of experienced woodsmen and skiers moved into the area shortly after dark Thursday and scoured the slopes and trails by moonlight—in an effort to find Richard Plaskett before his strength gave out.

When he was found by the police party rockets had to be fired into the night sky to recall the widely dispersed searchers.

Plaskett, a mill worker, said yesterday "I won't go skiing again alone in that country." "I can't say I was lost because I could see Courtenay most of the time, it was just a wrong turn that did it."

"We were frantic," said his mother, Mrs. Eli Plaskett. "I did a lot of skiing and I've advised him against skiing alone."

He left the lodge Thursday for a slope half a mile away. "I wasn't worrying because it was so close," he explained.

Skiing was poor on the first slope so he continued on for Lookout Hill, "but I missed it because the sign was down. I continued to the top of Mount Pacher then skied down and got my directions mixed."

Plaskett said he walked 15 miles down a creek, then followed logging roads. Close to midnight and about seven miles from the lodge he was met by police.

Cassidy Airport Plan Rejected by Airlines

NANAIMO—Two major airlines, TCA and CPA, have rejected a suggestion in the form of a query from Walter Matthews, member of parliament for Nanaimo, which would result in development of the Cassidy Airport south of Nanaimo as an alternate airport to Vancouver.

Both express the view that cost of runway extension and other changes would make such a development prohibitive.

Final End of Chinatown In Sight in Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Final remains of Nanaimo's Chinatown will be cleared of all residents by the end of this month.

This was the time limit set by health and fire officials following the disastrous blaze that wiped out a large part of the ancient community Sept. 30.

During the next month demolition of the few remaining wooden structures will take place and one of the last links with an important part of the city's past will be erased.

Accommodation is being found for Chinese citizens currently residing in the condemned dwellings.

Puzzled Indian Gets Light Term

DUNCAN—An Indian who said he did not know the meaning of financial responsibility got a light sentence in police court here yesterday.

Wilson Daniels of Kokislah, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without a licence. The court was told that some time ago following an impaired driving conviction it was cancelled until Daniels' proved financial responsibility to the motor vehicle branch.

"I don't know what that means," said Wilson, who added that after he got the notice the title to his car was transferred to his wife.

"As a rule, you know, this is taken as open defiance of the law. Usually I send offenders straight to Oakalla," said Magistrate A. C. Sutton, "but under these circumstances it will only be a $25 fine."

Trap Readied at Port Alberni For Unscrupulous Salesmen

PORT ALBERNI — Retail merchants committee of the Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce is getting set to spring a legal trap on door-to-door salesmen said to be using unscrupulous methods in their dealings with Alberni Valley residents.

The committee, headed by R. L. MacFie, reported that the moment evidence is obtained the proper authorities will be notified in order to put a stop to such operations.

SHIP ON TRUCK

The marine and transportation committee presented as a highlight of the past year the establishment of a customs sufferance warehouse by the local harbor commission. The warehouse here enables importing in the valley and on the West Coast to import direct to Port Alberni by ship or truck without having to clear bonded warehouses in Vancouver or Nanaimo.

James D. Stuart headed the committee.

CARS STOPPED

A total of 964 cars stopped at the tourist bureau operated jointly by the Chamber and Alberni Board of Trade, according to the committee in charge of the project. Approximately one-third of all the parties stopping at the bureau asked for directions to the west coast road.

The committee recommended the bureau be conducted in 1961 in the same location at the junction of Alberni and Port Alberni Highways, but that investigation be made of the possibility of establishing the building in Cathedral Grove. It was felt that many tourists are lost to the Albernis as they do not realize what lies beyond MacMillan Park.

It was also recommended that Mrs. O. Rutan be asked to take charge of the bureau for a second year.

William E. Russell is chairman of the Alberni Valley tourist bureau committee.

This is a record increase for funds entrusted to us through savings, deposits, debentures and trust certificates.

Mortgage loans represent another record increase. Through them we have helped Canadians finance the purchase and improvement of homes, industrial and commercial properties.

A net increase of over forty million dollars is a prime indicator of public confidence in our services as executor, trustee and financial agent.

This increase in reserves, necessitated by the substantial growth of business, has been provided for the further protection of our customers.

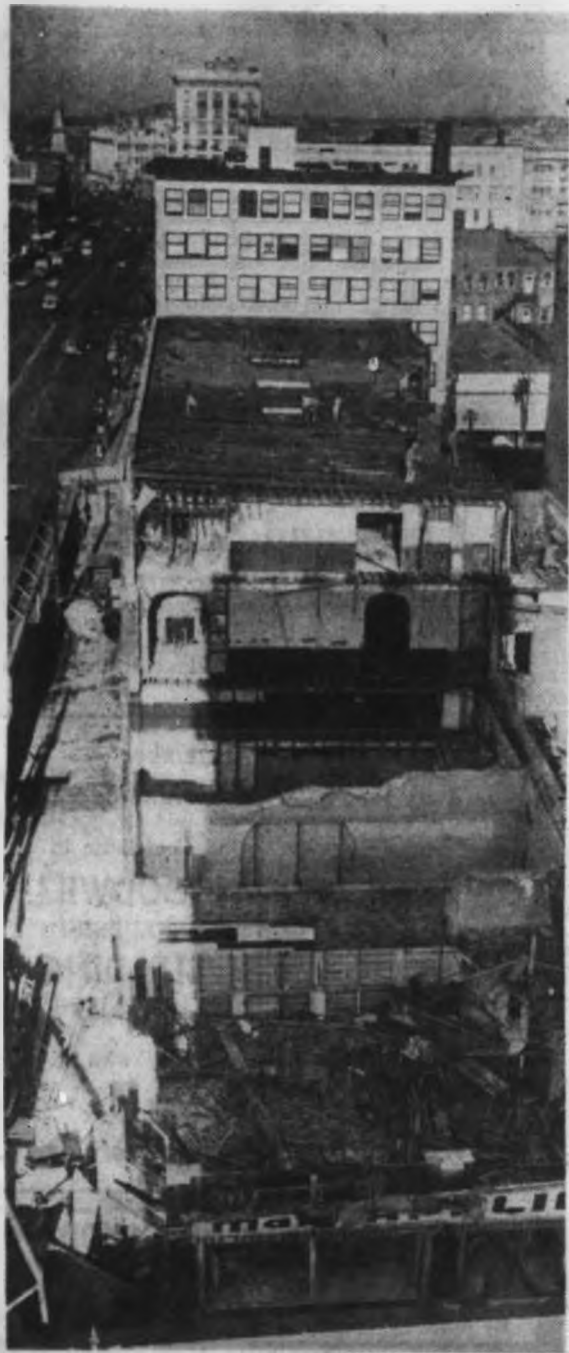

These profit levels for 1960 were achieved in the face of steadily rising operating costs and extensive development expenses.

Five-Cent Parking

Council Spurs 'Hold Line' Idea

Laughing off a suggestion by Ald. Rev. J. L. W. McLean that Victoria should preserve its five-cent parking meter rate as a tourist attraction, city council yesterday prepared to channel an increase in receipts into a special fund for off-street parking.

It instructed the city solicitor to prepare a bylaw to provide for placing in an off-street parking fund all parking meter receipts in excess of expenses and an amount representing one mill on the city's tax rate.

Although the meter rate in the one-hour parking, metered area won't go to five cents a half-hour until new meters are installed in three months or so, estimates have been that the bylaw might channel $35,000 into the special fund this year.

Ald. McLean asked Mayor Percy Scourrah if the purpose of raising the meter rate was to enable the city to provide off-street parking.

"That's one," said the mayor, adding that private investors couldn't provide off-street parking in competition with a five-cent rate.

It would be an attraction, Ald. McLean suggested, if Victoria "could say that it was the one city on the continent that still had five-cent parking. It might outdo 'follow the birds' we could say 'follow the Scotmen'."

Airport Estimate Fine, Says Mayor

Word that the federal government has placed $600,000 in estimates for the coming fiscal year for construction of a new terminal building at Patricia Bay Airport was greeted as "fine" yesterday by Mayor Percy Scourrah. "That's something definite," he said. Recently he had expressed dismay at delays in approving plans for the project.

Weatherships

Yarrows, VMD To Bid

Spokesmen for both Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrows Ltd. yesterday said they would definitely bid for contracts to construct two $8,000,000 weatherships for service on the West Coast.

They were commenting on the Ottawa announcement that some $2,800,000 will be included in federal estimates for the fiscal year starting April 1. Local officials said the government's action — part of a long-range $44,297,000 shipbuilding program — was "very encouraging."

Two cutters for the newly formed Canadian Marine Service on this coast are also expected to be started.

$11,000 House-Trailer Burns at Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—A house trailer and all its contents, worth nearly $11,000, went up in flames Thursday evening and Fire Chief William Venables said origin of the fire is still not known.

The trailer, located at Redford Trailer Park, was the property of Jim Coleman, manager of a Port Alberni super market. Mr. Coleman was out when flames were noticed and the alarm was turned in by a resident of the trailer park.

Chief Venables said the fire apparently started in the vicinity of an oil stove but, as there was not a square inch of the interior unburned, it was impossible to make a definite statement.

The trailer was valued at approximately $8,800 and contents were estimated at another $2,000.

PORT ALBERNI—Magistrate W. E. MacLeod said he was giving an accused the benefit of a doubt when he dismissed a charge of assault brought by Ed Larsen of Port Alberni against Donald McLaren.

On a second charge, laid by Pauline Moran-McLaren, was found guilty and assessed a total of $48 in fines and costs. The charges arose from a fracas near Nordley Centre Dance Hall last December.

ALBERNI—Reconstruction of Indian Avenue at an estimated cost of $6,700 is among the projects approved by Alberni council to be undertaken during the early part of this year.

Three blocks of sidewalks, curbs and gutters on both sides of Elizabeth Street, Johnston to Southgate, and storm drains on Russell Street are other works department projects which, with Indian Avenue work, will cost $17,511. Parks projects include fountains at Stirling field and Rogers Creek Park, a fence for the tennis court, steps to the river at River Road Park, cleaning of the lower beach at Paper Mill Dam Park and tables for three of the city

Other News Of Island Page 11

Cost was estimated at $2,450.

Distribution system renewals under the waterworks budget will include sections on Ian Avenue, Pemberton Road, Wilkinson Road and Adelaide Street at a cost of $7,035.

FULFORD—A. D. Dane was re-elected chairman of Fulford Hall Committee at the annual meeting held this week. Mrs. M. Gyves is vice-president, Miss Gladys Shaw, secretary, Dave Slingsby, treasurer, H. E. Faure and W. Mossop and Mrs. A. D. Dane, committee members.

W. A. Bridgen will take over as janitor and has offered his services free for boxing bouts and sports.

The hall committee is looking for someone to organize a girls' basketball team, badminton and other sports. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $80 in funds.

Mr. Dane reported that a movie will be shown every two weeks starting Friday, Feb. 17, in Fulford Hall.

DUNCAN—Organist and choirmaster of Vancouver's Ryerson United Church, Hugh J. McLean, will give a recital Monday at 8 p.m. in St. John's Church.

LADYSMITH—Funeral services for 73-year-old Albert Ormond, a First World War veteran who died at Victoria's Veterans' Hospital on Wednesday, will be held at St. John's Church here at 11 a.m. on Monday.

Born in London, England, he came to British Columbia 41 years ago, lived in Port Alberni for a time and moved to Ladysmith eight years ago. He was a steam engineer.

A member of the CEF, he served as a sapper with the 19th Engineers and was active in the Ladysmith Branch of the Canadian Legion.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, and son, Gordon, at home, two daughters, Mrs. Edward Zirk of Cranbrook and Mrs. Gerald Linsted of Calgary; a sister, Mrs. Harry Cooper in London, Ontario; brothers and sisters in England, and several grandchildren.

LADYSMITH—Funeral services for Clifford Owen Pollock, 32, who died of a heart attack while loading lumber on a ship at Chemainus, were held here yesterday.

Born at Ladysmith, he lived here all his life and was an ardent outdoorsman, hunter and fisherman. He was a veteran member of the Ladysmith Fish and Game Association.

He is survived by his wife, Loretta, at home, one child, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pollock of Ladysmith. Burial was at Cedar Valley Memorial Gardens.

NANAIMO—The long awaited announcement of a new fire hall site in Nanaimo has been chosen and the land purchased. City hall announced that the new hall will be built on a lot at the northeast corner of Milton and Fitzwilliam Streets, at present the site of a private residence.

LAKE COWICHAN—A boy charged with theft of a car in juvenile court yesterday was remanded 30 days for investigation.

Sweeping Idea Rejected

'Pinch' Litterbugs

A few prosecutions of persons dropping litter on city streets, Mayor Percy Scourrah suggested yesterday, would do much to halt the practice.

"If we put up a lot of warning signs, and pinched a few persons occasionally, I think it would be very helpful," he said during discussion of a proposal by Ald. Edgelow that sidewalk benches and bus-stops be swept on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays at an extra cost of about $500 a year.

Council rejected the idea, but asked public works committee to consider a suggestion

tion from Ald. Austin Curtis that the city flush downtown streets at night.

(This, city engineer James Garnett estimated later, could cost the city an extra $30,000 or $35,000 a year.)

Other council action: The aldermen endorsed an intermunicipal committee recommendation that councils reject requests for grants to ward building costs of the Salvation Army's Mason Sunset Lodge for aged persons and the St. John Ambulance training centre, but give the appeals of the two organizations full public support.

Request of Vancouver architect C. B. K. Van Norman and associates for an extension of time allowed Kingston Apartments Ltd. to pay for the old Kingston Street tennis courts was received and filed — meaning that unless overpayment is made by Feb. 15, the city will repossess the property.

A petition for enclosure of Bowker Creek north of Hillside, termed the creek a terrific safety hazard and also unsanitary, was referred to public works committee for consideration of what work should be done this year.

Council approved a Capital Planning Board budget of $39,278. The board is making an urban renewal study in the city, and Ald. M. H. Mooney remarked, "It's important to have it finished and this is the cheapest way we could have it done."

Reconstruction of the fire-damaged Beacon Hill Park nursery maintenance building with concrete blocks instead of wood, at an extra cost of about $12,000, was approved.

Mayor Percy Scourrah agreed to ask the Memorial Arena commission to file monthly reports with council giving information on activities as well as a financial statement.

Esquimalt Voters Don't Get Vote

Esquimalt residents have no vote in the federal Esquimalt-Saanich riding and Reeve A. C. Wurtele intends to do something about it.

"It is too ridiculous for words," Reeve Wurtele said last night. "None of the municipality of Esquimalt falls within the boundaries of the Esquimalt-Saanich riding."

"We vote with Victoria residents in federal elections and Mr. A. DeB. McPhillips is our representative."

Reeve Wurtele will attempt to either have Esquimalt municipality included in the federal Esquimalt-Saanich riding, or have the name changed to "Saanich riding."

Night Sitting On Tuesday

First night sitting of the legislature will be held Tuesday, government whip Bert Price said yesterday.

Night sittings are rare so early in the session.

First criticism of the government will be voiced Monday at 2 p.m. when Opposition Leader Robert Strachan debates the Throne Speech to be followed by Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

Victoria Mill Loses Appeal

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada has rejected an appeal by Acme Sawmills Ltd. of Victoria against lower court judgments ordering it to pay damages of $10,069 for breach of contract.

The company was sued by Mahinder Singh for failing to deliver fuel wood under terms of a contract signed in 1955.

Colin Graham, curator, said "I'm very much disappointed."

The collection will open early in February at the Vancouver Art Gallery, where it will remain for three weeks before being returned to England.

Timely and Topical But Just Not True

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

Somebody goofed. The publishers delivered 230 copies of the unabridged edition of "Lady Chatterley's Lover."

The books were quickly returned before the cadets could enlarge their knowledge of strategy and tactics.

STEADY DIET: Cast of the Theatre Guild production "George and Margaret" will probably hie-off for a good solid steak after the closing curtain.

It seems that sausages are served in a breakfast scene and director Bert Williams insisted that they be eaten at rehearsal so that the cast would engender a liking for the fare.

Bone Merryweather, who is in charge of small properties, estimates eight pounds of sausages will have been eaten by the actors before the play ends its run.

BACKWOODS ODYSSEY: Omnica MLA Cyril Shelford did it again yesterday.

Every session he has the other members convulsed as he relates some folksy anecdote from his backwoods riding in northern B.C.

Last summer, he told the House yesterday, it was announced at the Ocala Stampede that a neighbor of his, Smokey Naylor, was about to compete in the bronco-busting contest.

"Smokey's now in the chute and is riding Gagliardi," said the ring announcer.

"Well, you can just imagine the reaction of all those people when they heard the name of the horse was Gagliardi," drawled Mr. Shelford. "Everybody thought it would be a real fiery horse."

"Then they opened the chute and do you know what happened?" he continued. "Gagliardi stayed in the chute and just kicked."

GIVE AND TAKE: Several exchanges between government and opposition members of the legislature yesterday showed that the MLAs have indeed sharpened their wits.

Cyril Shelford (SC, Omnica) was talking about change of names for political parties, an obvious dig at the New Party.

"I guess the Conservatives started it some time ago by changing their name," said Mr. Shelford.

"Yeah, the premier did too," shot back Leo Nimark (CCF, Cranbrook) referring to Premier Bennett's former allegiance to the Tory party.

Herbert Bruch (SC, Esquimalt) was reading a list of reasons why so many social workers quit the department last year.

"Illness, two . . . casually employed, two," intoned Mr. Bruch.

"For running as a CCF candidate," interjected Opposition leader Robert Strachan, in reference to the firing of social worker David Bennett (CCF, Dewdney) after he had been nominated by the CCF.

"That's the not known, one, I guess," continued Mr. Bruch.

Degree Not Type Treatment Guide

A new concept in hospital treatment — progressive patient care — is in the cards this year for St. Joseph's Hospital, medical superintendent Dr. E. N. Boettcher said yesterday.

He told Victoria Lions Club the new concept was the basis of all planning for the hospital's $2,500,000 building program.

Progressive patient care, said Dr. Boettcher, provides care for patients by degrees of illness, rather than as at present by types of illness.

One area would include patients in critical condition, whether from heart ailments, operations or accidents, he said. A bigger area would accommodate intermediate cases, and third area would be for patients capable of some self-care.

The new system will be introduced in about six months.

Another sunny day was forecast for Victoria today by the weather office. Day-time temperatures were expected to drop slightly to about 60 degrees.

Vancouver's fog is expected to clear a bit around noon.

$15,000 Too Much to Bring Art Here

Directors of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria announced yesterday they turned down a chance to show part of the Duke of Bedford's Woburn Abbey collection here upon learning it would cost $15,000. Thinking earlier it would, cost only $5,000, they managed to get offers of financial assistance from the Canada Council and the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association.

But when the $15,000 figure came up, they changed their minds. "Since the gallery's annual budget is only $26,000, it was clear it could not sustain the expected deficit of $5,000 to $7,000 on the exhibition," said a spokesman.

Most of the $15,000 would have been spent on insurance, guards and the presence of the Duke of Bedford, he said.

Colin Graham, curator, said "I'm very much disappointed."

The collection will open early in February at the Vancouver Art Gallery, where it will remain for three weeks before being returned to England.

Firetruck, Car Meet

One man died in hospital after this spectacular crash at Quadra and Johnson yesterday. Firetruck and sedan collided in mid-corner, sending sedan driver William Mendres, 1224 Bewdley, to St. Joseph's Hospital.—(Ryan Bros. photo.)

Man Killed By Firetruck

Downtown crash of a city firetruck and a car yesterday took the life of a 41-year-old Esquimalt man.

William Mendres, 1224 Bewdley, died at 1:20 a.m. today in St. Joseph's Hospital after suffering a skull fracture and chest injuries at 3 p.m. He was seated from the crushed-in right side of the front seat by Constables Brian Ferguson and John Maybin after his car was battered broadside by a screaming fire engine.

The firetruck, from the James Bay hall, was on its way to what later turned out to be only a minor fire. Its siren was howling and its red light flashing as driver Arthur Leason, 1982 Newton, raced up Quadra towards Pandora.

At the same time, Mr. Mendres was driving a sedan along Johnson.

They apparently both reached the Johnson-Quadra intersection at the same time. Police said the crash happened near the centre of the intersection. The heavy firetruck, damaged slightly at the front end, bulldozed the sedan to the northeast corner against a lamp standard.

None of the firemen was injured. Meanwhile, two more firetrucks, both from the main firehall on Yates Street, continued to the small fire in a house at 1511 Pandora.

A fire department request for an ambulance was answered by a city police patrol wagon standing by at the scene of the fire.

LONE OCCUPANT. Mr. Mendres was the lone occupant of the car, which was demolished.

City fire department officials last night refused to say how many firemen were riding on the truck at the time or whether any of them were thrown to the ground by the impact.

Police, still investigating the crash, are seeking eyewitnesses.

Boy Lost Without Vital Pills

A 10-year-old boy, subject to epileptic fits was still being sought by city police early this morning after he ran from his home at 213 Denison at 6:30 p.m.

His worried parents said that he had left without his pills, which he should take every four hours to prevent seizures. The missing boy, Ian McLeod, was described as four feet, 10 inches tall, grey eyes, and brown hair.

Bus Skids Whole Block

VANCOUVER (UPI)—A B.C. Electric bus skidded for a block along an icy Vancouver street Friday, spun around and turned on its side.

Twenty passengers and the driver were shaken, but unhurt. They got out by climbing up through the regular doors.

KENNEDY MAY MEET K IF HE COMES TO UN

Chimp Space Bound

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young chimpanzee, a specimen of man's most intelligent tree-dwelling cousin, is scheduled to be rocketed into space briefly next week, perhaps Tuesday.

If all goes well on the 290-mile, 16-minute flight into the Atlantic from Cape Canaveral, Fla., one of the seven human U.S. astronauts will have a ticket for the next such trip.

The United States' hopes of hurling a man into an earth orbit sometime this year are pinned on success of these two shots.

A chimp was selected for the pioneer flight because his body and mind most nearly resemble man's. In fact, a chimp's mental processes are more man-like than ape-like.

$12,600,000 In the Red

OTTAWA (UPI)—Finance Minister Fleming last night reported a $12,600,000 deficit in the federal government's financial operations for the first nine months of the current fiscal year.

Surplus Food For Jobless?

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is considering plans to distribute surplus Canadian foodstuffs to welfare agencies to assist the unemployed, it was learned Friday night. A federal government source said a detailed plan has not yet been evolved, but several departments have been put to work studying the problem.

Kennedy Muzzles Top U.S. 'Brass'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The week-old Kennedy administration, in keeping with its policy of "quiet diplomacy," has clamped a tight lid on foreign policy speeches or other "inadvisable" statements by officials of its military services and other departments. The policy is reminiscent of the early days of the Eisenhower administration when former defence secretary Charles E. Wilson ordered a halt to missile rattling and statements on inter-service rivalry.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke (chief of naval operations) was the first affected by the Kennedy policy. Burke had prepared a "tough" speech on U.S. relations with Russia for delivery last night at a national business publications dinner here.

But the White House, reportedly "disgruntled" by what Burke planned to say, ordered it rewritten. It emerged a rather innocuous exposition of the need for sea power in facing "the perils of the future."

Pirates' Ship Shifts Course

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The U.S. Navy said Friday night the rebel Portuguese passenger ship Santa Maria has "drastically changed" course and is heading in a southeasterly direction. It appeared to be veering away from a direct course that would take it to Africa.

Announcement of the change followed a U.S. promise of safe conduct for the rebel skipper to discharge his 588 captive passengers at port.

The navy told the rebel, Capt. Henrique Galvao, it would take no action against the ship if he would carry out his announced willingness to release the passengers he holds as virtual hostages.

The ship's last reported position was almost directly on the equator.

At the same time the navy ordered Rear Admiral Allen Smith, commander of the Caribbean sea frontier, to Belem, Brazil.

U.S. BASE

Belem was chosen as U.S. base if the Santa Maria decides to confer with navy officials.

Galvao said he was ready to meet U.S. authorities aboard the ship or at a landing port.

Galvao also said he would accept a U.S. navy escort to protect him from Portuguese warships, steaming to head him off from his earlier announced destination of Angola in Portuguese West Africa.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT

There was no announcement by the U.S. of such an offer, however.

Portugal's speedy new frigate, the Pero Escobar, armed with three-inch guns, is among Portuguese ships speeding after the Santa Maria.

The rebels have threatened to scuttle the ship if attacked.

He'd Be Delighted Says Stevenson

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Adlai Stevenson expressed belief Friday that President Kennedy would be delighted to meet with Premier Khrushchev if the Soviet leader shows up at the UN General Assembly in March.

Stevenson, new U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made the statement at a press conference. He also expressed a desire for improved relations with Communist China.

There has been speculation that Khrushchev may attend the resumed session of the General Assembly opening March 7. Stevenson was asked whether Kennedy would welcome informal contacts with Khrushchev if the Soviet premier does come.

CAN'T SPEAK

"I cannot speak for the president on this matter because I have not discussed it with him, but my guess is that he would be happy to meet Mr. Khrushchev here," Stevenson replied.

"I would hope very much that we could achieve peaceful relations and restore harmony and security to the world, and that, of course, would include China."

WASHINGTON SURPRISED

Washington officials appeared to be surprised by the Stevenson statement even though there was no adverse comment on it.

Diplomatic observers in Washington said the statement could be construed in Moscow as an informal way of getting word to Khrushchev that if he wanted to come to New York he would be asked to Washington.

School Janitor Faces Drug Peddling Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 38-year-old janitor employed by the Vancouver school board was charged Friday with trafficking in narcotics.

John McKinley is also charged with selling narcotics.

Charged jointly with McKinley is his wife, Priscilla, 30. She is charged with possession of drugs for the purpose of trafficking and faces a further charge of possession of drugs.

McKinley was arrested Thursday after he allegedly sold five capsules of heroin to an RCMP officer posing as an addict.

$100,000 Vanishes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The FBI said Friday a package containing $100,000 was stolen from an Australian Qantas Empire Airways safe at San Francisco International airport.

Agent Bruce Banks said the money was taken by someone who apparently knew the combination.

Fuss Over Royal Hunt Absurd—'India Hand'

DUNCAN—There is nothing unsporting in shooting tigers from a tree-platform according to one of Duncan's "old India hands" and former "white hunter" to King George V.

Col. M. E. Dopping-Hepenstal said criticism of Prince Philip for shooting a tiger from a 25-foot-high platform at Rajasthan, India, earlier this week is unfounded.

"It is absurd for these people to complain about the royal hunt," the veteran soldier said.

"Tigers are a menace and should be exterminated."

He said shooting tigers from a tree-platform is actually one of the more difficult ways of killing them because the animals only appear for the briefest moment when light conditions make for tough shooting.

"It is very difficult shooting," said the colonel.

He said reading of Prince Philip's tiger hunt took him back to 1911 when he accompanied King George V on safari.

The royal party was rather large, and while the king was an excellent shot and knocked down 19 tigers of the total bag of 39, some of the others were not.

One of the royal entourage became so enraged and humiliated when he missed a tiger time after time that he finally threw down his expensive rifle in disgust.

Another nimrod clobbered one of the party's work elephants by mistake, but the animal survived in spite of a 24-inch-deep hole in the head.

ACT AS ARBITER

At one point on the hunt Col. Dopping-Hepenstal had to act as arbiter between two members of the party who couldn't agree on the ownership of a rhinoceros trophy.

One of the hunters who claimed it was the man which the beast had chased into camp, the other was the man who gunned it down at the crucial moment.

"I gave it to the man who fired the shot," said the Colonel.

Tiger Tempest Upsets India

(Special To The Colonist)

NEW DELHI—Reports that a section of the British press has severely criticized the Queen and Prince Philip for taking part in a tiger shoot has surprised, pained and even angered many Indians in New Delhi.

While there has been no comment at all in the daily press on the attitude of certain British papers and personalities the Indian civil servants, journalists, soldiers, drivers and bearers with whom one reporter spoke Friday are unanimous in describing it as a ridiculous campaign which has embarrassed both India and its royal guests.

The news of the tiger shoot was featured on the front page of every New Delhi newspaper there seems to be no one who was not pleased that India was able to offer the duke a successful day's sport.

If he had failed to get his tiger they would have felt that they had failed as hosts.

The only protests have come from a small group calling itself the Ahimsak Party which is mainly composed of Jains, a sect which follows the philosophy of non-violence to the lengths of breathing through cloth so as not to harm animals they might inhale.

Suggestions in England that tiger shooting is an imperialistic sport that died out with the departure of the British raj is laughed at. "Why give a sport which Nasser and Tito enjoyed an imperialistic flavor just because the Queen is here?" an Indian journalist asked. "We do not think in terms of imperialism any more."

One fear generally expressed is that these comments in Britain will cast a blight on a tour which is welcomed by every Indian.
